Cole Hardware Building Sold To Scanlon's; Retail Space Expands

By Robert E. Finneran
Editor

A major downtown Andover business transaction, Scanlon's Hardware will take over the Cole Hardware building and provide for additional retail space in the vacated property.

R. Milton Cole, owner of Cole's Hardware, an Andover business since 1950, confirmed to the TOWNSMAN this week that agreement had been reached with William Scanlon, also an Andover resident, to sell the Main street building and business effective July 26.

Andover Savings Bank has an agreement with Mr. Scanlon to acquire that property which is within the confines of the major addition placed on the bank within the past few years. It will be renovated and dedicated to retail space, according to Richard C. MacGowan, bank vice president.

While no specific price was given, Mr. Cole said that the sale of his building and business was in excess of $1 million.

The Andover retailer, who emphasized that he has enjoyed his business activity in the downtown area, "every day has been fun," is not retiring, but turning his business talents to a different direction. He will purchase and renovate old houses in the Merrimack Valley and York, Maine, areas where he also has a residence, then sell them. "I guess I'm going to become a developer."

It is something he has wanted to do for some time, he said, but was never able to do so, noting that the operation of a retail business is a commanding one, in need of daily attention.

As for Mr. Scanlon, who operates a business begun by his father, Timothy J. Scanlon, in Lawrence almost 40 years ago and which has been at the additional Main street location since 1970, he looks upon his new acquisition as "a good opportunity for me. We remodeled our present store a year ago and it's still too small to do the business that we do and need to do."

He said he intends to do some renovation of the building at some time in the future, restoring the front to what the building, constructed in 1910 as the Barnard Block, originally looked like. Pictures of the original building are in the Andover Savings Bank and Scanlon said the appearance is one which would enhance the town's main business section.

MacGowan told the TOWNSMAN Tuesday that the bank had no specific plans for the former Scanlon Hardware building other than that it will definitely be retail space. Some work will be done to put the building in conformity with the other new construction surrounding it and some interior alteration will allow for better access by bank personnel to their offices. But, it will definitely be retail space, he said, as is all of the Main street, or first floor property constructed by the bank in recent years.

The first major downtown business transaction in many years began to evolve about a year ago, according to Cole and has resulted in a move which is "great for both Bill Scanlon and me."

A person came into Cole's about a year ago, he said, and asked if the place was for sale. "I told him anything is for sale for a price, half in jest, and things began to take shape from there," the businessman said.

There have been other offers considered in the intervening months, but in the end, it was the Scanlon proposal which seemed most appealing, Cole said, and one he feels will benefit what was once an Andover competitor.

William J. Scanlon

The building, which also houses Ford's Coffee Shop and Hughes Pharmacy on the first level and offices on the second floor, provides about 8,500 square feet of retail space within the confines of the hardware store.

Scanlon said this would almost triple his present retail space.

While the transaction will not be formalized until July, Scanlon has begun planning the move to the across-the-street location. This does not mean that the Scanlon operation will close as of the July 26 formal takeover date, he said, the bank allowing him sufficient time to make a smooth transition to the new location.

Scanlon said his new location would provide a wider base and allow for expansion of various lines and ability to offer better values.

"We never had the right amount of space, particularly for the display of seasonal items and this will resolve that problem. We will also expand to a larger plumbing department, automotive supplies and there will be the opportunity to expand our electrical and hardware lines," Scanlon said.

While considerable planning will precede the move this summer, the lifelong Andover resident is excited about the new venture. "I'm excited about being a part of what's happening in downtown Andover. The flavor of downtown Andover won't change and shouldn't. I'm glad the opportunity to obtain this property presented itself and I had the chance to move on it."

As for the other businesses and offices in the building, Scanlon said he has no definite plans at the moment but would be dis-

David B. Eckoff

Admitted To Honor Society

David B. Eckoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Eckoff, Cameron Road, Andover, has been named to Alpha Lambda Delta at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Alpha Lambda Delta is a society to "encourage superior scholastic achievement among students in their first year in institutions of higher education; to promote intelligent living and a continued high standard of learning; and to assist men and women in recognizing and developing meaningful goals for their roles in society."

Eckoff is majoring in accounting. He graduated from Andover High School in 1982.

Honor Society President

Bobbi Jean Hunter, daughter of Anita Taylor, 172 High St., Andover, was elected president of the Greater Lawrence Tech's National Honor Society for the 1984-85 school year. Bobbi, majoring in computer technology, has been a member of the Honor Society for the past year.

She has also been named a 1984 United States National Achievement Academy award winner. The academy elects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches and counselors based upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the academy.

Flag Day Ceremonies At Elks

Andover Lodge of Elks will conduct their annual Flag Day ceremonies at the Elks Lodge, 400 South Main St., Sunday, June 10 at 7 p.m.

Donn B. Byrne, chairman of the board of selectmen will be the speaker.

Officers of the lodge will be assisted by local Boy and Girl Scout troops.

The service is open to the public and refreshments will be served following the ceremonies.

Artisans In Festival

Some Andover residents will exhibit their crafts at the Festival by the Lake in Wakefield on June 9. Beth Vail will display her pottery, including porcelain and ornaments, and Leon Gray will return with his always popular wooden toys.

This third annual Festival by the Lake is sponsored by the Wakefield Center Neighborhood Association, a non-profit, civic organization working toward the beautification of Wakefield. The festival will include rides, lots of food and entertainment. It will be held on Wakefield Common, just outside of the center.

Breakfast Sponsors Needed

Andover's Committee for Patriotic Observances is seeking a non-profit group to sponsor the All Town Breakfast on the Fourth of July.

The breakfast will be held at the Doherty Junior High before the traditional Horribles Parade. If interested, contact Barbara Surdam, 174 High St.

Funeral Home Variance On Agenda

A variance that would allow a Reading funeral director to run a funeral home in Andover tops the list of the eleven public hearings set for tonight's Zoning Board of Appeals meeting which will begin an hour early because of the unusually long agenda.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Memorial Hall Library meeting room, upstairs in the Elm Square building.

Besides Paul F. Bekkenhuis's request to allow him to construct a funeral home with living quarters at 326 South Main St., the board will hear a request to construct two dozen apartments on Essex Street by Donald and Barbara Richmond, of Rock O'Dundee Road.

Some nine other variances and special permits, most of which are more routine in nature, will be discussed at tonight's meeting.

Students Must Provide Physicals

The Andover School Athletic Department will not offer physical examinations for next year's athletes. Plans to organize this service have been abandoned due to the poor response on a survey recently sent home with students. Approximately 60 of 600 surveys were returned. This number was insufficient to obtain the service as planned.

Parents are reminded that they are responsible for scheduling their children's physical exam. The Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association states, "All students must pass a physical examination within one year before participating in any sport." Parents should check the date of their child's last physical and make arrangements well in advance of the expiration date.

The interscholastic athletic program for the 1984-85 school year begins August 27 for high school students.

Students without dated physicals will not be allowed to participate.

Selectmen Approve Block Party

Wolcott Avenue residents will celebrate summer's arrival with their annual block party later this month, with the selectmen's approval. The selectmen Monday night also approved three sanitary sewer connection permits, and several alcoholic beverages licenses.

Wolcott Avenue neighbors will hold their block party from 4 to 8 p.m. Sunday, June 24; with the selectmen's permission, the street will be closed from Elm Street to Walnut Avenue.

The Lawrence Lodge of Elks won retroactive approval for their Walter T. Meaney P.D.D. Memorial Road Race, which was held beginning at 10 a.m. on June 3 at 652 Andover St., Lawrence.

A one-day wine and malt license was granted to Merrimack College for 1 to 5 p.m. June 6, for a picnic in the town-house area; the Christian Formation Center, River Road, was granted one-day all-alcoholic licenses for 4 to 11 p.m. July 7; 5 p.m. to midnight July 14; 1 to 8 p.m. July 28; 2 to 9 p.m. Aug. 8; 2 to 9 p.m. Aug. 11; noon to 8 p.m. Aug. 18; noon to 8 p.m. Aug. 25; and 2 to 10 p.m. Aug. 16; and the Andover Council on Aging was granted a one-day all-alcoholic license for a Hawaiian luau to be held at the Senior Center, 5:30 to 10 p.m. June 9.

And, acting as sewer commissioners, the board approved sanitary sewer connections for two lots on Hemlock Drive, in the Pond View Place subdivision, and one on Whispering Pines Way.

Child Care Survey Beginning

The Department of Community Services' Child Care Committee will begin its telephone Needs Assessment Survey this week. Four hundred families with children 12 or under have been picked randomly by computer. Community volunteers will call each of these families within the next two-three weeks. The statistical significance of the survey will depend on the cooperation of those who have been selected.

The department is most appreciative of the many individuals who have volunteered to make the phone calls. Any questions or concerns regarding the survey should be addressed to the Department of Community Services.

Inducted In Cum Laude Society

Two local Governor Dummer students were admitted into the school's Cum Laude Society this spring.

Brian O'Dell, of Andover, and Mariel Hagan, of North Andover, were elected as members of the scholarly group at the Byfield private school.

The eligibility requirements of the honor group include a 3.3 average.

To Discuss Effects Of Stroke

The Lawrence Easter Seal Stroke Club will hold its monthly meeting at the Massachusetts Easter Seal Society (rear of United Cerebral Palsy) Northeast Regional Office, 20 Ballard Road, Lawrence, on Tuesday, June 12, at 2:15 p.m. in the Community Conference Room.

Betty Pomerleau, registered speech therapist, will discuss stroke/aphasia/coping A Family Issue/Why Do We Feel This Way? She will cover emotional aspects, the stages of coping and things that the family can do together when the stroke patient cannot speak. New guests and friends are invited to attend. Refreshments and conversation at 3:15 p.m.

The purpose of the club is to provide stroke disabled people and their families and friends with information and counseling aimed at easing apprehensions about the disability and to create a social environment in which the participant can become involved.

Stroke is a disability which affects people of all ages, particularly those in their sixties. Most often it leaves the individual with some physical and speech disability. Recovery from the effects of stroke can be as difficult an experience as a stroke itself. Easter Seal can help through a support program.

For further information, call the Easter Seal Society.

Inducted In Honor Society

Twelve local students were inducted into the nursing honor society at the University of Lowell last month at a special ceremony on the Lowell campus.

Cited for their superior work in nursing were Andover residents Amelia E. Anderson, 19 Beech Circle; Elaine N. Ayers, 91 Bailey Road; Susan Bright, 115 Elm St.; Janice Chasse-King, 16 Balmoral St.; Phyllis Dolby, 517 Lowell St.; Margaret Fitzgerald, 11 Appletree Lane; Roseann Hunt, 4 Snowberry Road; Nancy Lacasse, 97 Central St.; and Mary Evelyn K. Murphy, 192 High Plain Road.

From North Andover the inductees were Eileen Dean, 31 Johnson Circle; Carole A. Schultz, 1518 Great Pond Road; and Alan D. Solomont, 140 Prescott St.

Sigma Theta Tau was organized in 1922 and encourages scholarship and leadership achievement at both the undergraduate and graduate levels in nursing.

Adult AFS Program Planned

AFS is no longer for adults only. Janyce M. Sagaser, area representative for AFS International/Intercultural Programs, announces a new adult exchange between Hanover, Germany, and the local area. Twenty representatives of the Andover and North Andover Chapters of AFS will be guests of German AFS families from Sept. 9-29. On October 15, 20 German adults will arrive to spend three weeks with host families in this area.

Similar to the usual student exchange programs, participants will live with families, visit area attractions, learn more about AFS and have free time to pursue their own interests. Host families will enjoy this opportunity to build freindships and experience our country through the eyes of a guest.

The program is open to anyone 18 or older who has been involved with AFS in the past either as chapter member, American's Abroad traveller or their parents or host family members. Applications for either hosting or travelling to Germany are available from Janyce Sagaser or Ruth Berthold of Andover or David Scheipers of North Andover. Inquiries and applications are needed by June 22.

FIFTY YEARS AND THANKFUL

Sheila Doherty, Mary Doherty, Jay Doherty

Jim Doherty

We began our insurance and real estate business on June 8, 1934 in a small office located in the Musgrove Building. The population of Andover was 9,000 and no one ever thought seriously about living in West Andover.

June 8, 1984 will find us in our own building on Elm Street, as well as in an office on Main Street in No. Andover. The commercial, industrial and residential development has had to work hard to keep pace with the increasing population in both communities. We have been very fortunate to have had dedicated professionals working with us to provide you, our real estate and insurance clients, with the professional and personal service you deserve.

As we celebrate our 50th year, we are proud to have the second generation, Mary, Jay and Sheila and their staff of young professionals carry on the tradition we have worked so hard to establish.

Four ABC Students Graduating

Four of the graduating seniors in Andover High's senior class came to town three years ago to get a taste of living in a small town.

Wai Gee Chu, Sherry Cunningham, Ian Dowe and Melvin Thomas have spent their last three years living at the ABC House, at 134 Main St. Each had to qualify as junior high school students to be chosen to participate in the ABC program, which stands for A Better Chance.

While at Andover High, all four have been involved in school activities and sports. And, three will go on to college while one, Melvin Thomas, spends a post-graduate year at Phillips Academy before going on to college.

Chu, who was born in Hong Kong came to Andover from the Bronx, N.Y. He was a member of the ecology and photography clubs at Andover High and is the vice-president at the ABC house. Chu, who hopes to study international relations, will enter Tufts University this fall. He told THE TOWNSMAN that he found it difficult, at first, to come to Andover from New York. But, he said, he is glad he took the chance and came.

Sherry Cunningham came to town from Newark, N.J. She will be a pre-med student at Dartmouth College this fall. Active in Andover High sports, Cunningham played on the field hockey, basketball and softball teams. She was also a Student Council member and a peer counselor.

Ian Dowe, will attend College of the Holy Cross on a football scholarship next fall. He played football at Andover High and was a co-captain on the track teams this past winter and spring. He was also a Student Council member and participated in the school's Discipline Committee. Dowe said he hopes to study economics in college.

Melvin Thomas will spend a year at Phillips Academy before going to college. The Manhattan, New York, resident, who was born in India, hopes to someday become a foreign service officer. His plans include entering Georgetown University after Phillips. A soccer fan, Thomas played soccer and coached a team with the Andover Soccer Association. He was also a member of the photography and

Cubs Aid Garden Club

The Four Seasons Garden Club, who maintain the trail at Foster's Island Reservation, invited a group of cub scouts from Pack 100, Den 8, at the Sanborn School to help pick up trash from the trailside in Ballardvale. The scouts, lead by Mrs. Mary Ellen Dahlstrand, enjoyed the trail as they proceeded to fill their trash bags.

An award was given to Greg Arserio who collected the most rubbish. Thelma Church, Barbara Driscoll and Judy Bernier of the Four Seasons Garden Club planted various wildflowers along the trail while accompanying the cub scouts.

Recycling Pickups Still Suspended

While curbside pickup of recyclable paper and glass is suspended, Andover's recycling drop-off center downtown at Bartlet and Park is doing a booming business. Some residents appear to have established a routine of frequent stops at the center and have remarked how little effort it takes to recycle this way.

Some are even suggesting that for the future a drop-off system seems more practical than door-to-door collections.

Other townspeople are impatient with the temporary interruption of curbside service, but continue to use the drop-off center regularly. It is evident from the neat stacks of recyclables still in front of houses all around town that many householders are unaware of any change. Informing a public that does not read local newspapers is a difficult task.

Although most people using the recycling drop-off are doing a beautiful job of preparing their paper and glass, some are still bringing hardcover books, plastic bags, junk mail and a variety of non-recyclable substances. Tied or bagged papers and magazines and flattened corrugated cardboard are much easier to stack from floor to ceiling in the paper trailer so that no space is wasted. Loose papers slide around, at times setting off an avalanche of papers out onto the ground.

Containers in which people have brought their glass should not be thrown into the glass bins. Volunteers have been donning boots and gloves, actually climbing into the bins to fish out all bags and boxes thrown in with the glass.

It is clear that townspeople using the recycling center have the very best intentions and only need to be educated to use it in the best possible way.

Organ Recital At Church

As part of their community outreach program in the arts, Christ Church, Episcopal, on Central Street, will present an organ recital at 4 p.m. Sunday, June 10. Featured will be the church's music director, Earl L. Miller, and French horn player Kurt Nickerson.

Miller will play works by Alexandre Guilmant (Sonata No. 1 and Grand Chorus in a March form), Tommaso Albinoni (Adagio in G Minor), Narcis Casavanos (Toccata in C), the Pachelbel Canon in D, a Suite of dances from the Renaissance period, a work by a relatively unknown Philadelphia composer from the last century and William Faules' Grand Choeur in C. He and Nickerson will play several works for organ and French horn, including the romance by Camille Saint-Saens.

The Christ Church organ was built in 1886 by George Hutchings of Boston and has been enlarged over the years by William Laws and Fritz Noack, making it the largest church organ in Andover.

The Sunday's At Four series of Christ Church is free and open to the public.

An Artist Whose Talents Are Aimed In Therapeutic Direction

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Margot Porter is an artist, but one not meant for the artist's solitary life. "I've always had a hard time deciding which I love most, people or art," she explains.

For most of her life, she has chosen people — but not abandoned art. She is a sculptor who teaches art to children, and a therapist who uses art to help people of all ages express and understand their feelings.

"Being an artist is a very lonely career," she says. "I've always wanted to mix it with people. It's something I like to share."

"Art to me is really observing* and looking and appreciating, as much as doing — the process is more important than the final product. And doing it with other people is just very important to me."

Mrs. Porter lives and works on Evergreen Lane, in a house tucked away in the woods overlooking Haggetts Pond. It is a quiet, lovely setting for the artist, the teacher, the therapist: she brings her young students and her clients here, where she has lived with her husband, Alan, for the past six years. (Andover residents for 19 years, the Porters used to live on Lowell Street.)

Alan Porter is a craftsman who shares his wife's interest in the arts, and he has always been "very supportive" of her, Margot notes.

She is an elegant woman, vibrant and spirited, who has embraced many roles with enthusiasm — she is not just an artist, therapist and teacher, but an "organizer."

a "perpetual student," a mother (her four grown children are Whittier of Newburyport; Pam Porter-Elliott of Temple, N.H.; Christopher of Burlington, Vt.; Alan, Jr. of Andover).

Margot is the product of an artistic family. "My parents diddled in it," she explains; her three sisters are all involved in the arts, and from her earliest years, "I just loved to use my hands."

Most of her work is clay sculpture, small "character studies" of people (her largest figure is about 18 inches tall). "Art with a capital A seems awfully presumptuous," she says of her work. "I have never considered myself a fine artist. I'm more of a facilitator, using the arts to explore life and help others to explore life."

Working with others has, it seems, also come naturally to her. "I've been teaching art ever since I was 14, when I started teaching as a volunteer at a settlement house. I've just always taught art."

For the past few years, Mrs. Porter has combined her instinct for helping people with her love of art by working as an expressive therapist. She earned a master's degree in expressive therapy from the Lesley College Arts Institute in 1979, after two years of full-time study. In her fifties, she was one of the oldest students at Lesley, she notes. "I'm something of a perpetual student. I keep on taking courses, and probably always will."

Expressive therapy uses drawing and sculpting to help people express their feelings; it can be used as a diagnostic tool for those with "psychiatric difficulties," as a primary aspect of psychotherapy ("I am not a psychotherapist by a long shot," Margot points out), as a road to "personal growth."

The expressive therapist uses "guided imagery and fantasy" with her clients. With her help, they call pictures into their minds, then put those pictures on paper and talk about what they've drawn. Or clients may work a piece of clay around in their hands with eyes closed, then look at what they've formed and talk about that.

It's just a means of growth and self-discovery, of self-expression," Mrs. Porter explains. "I use it to help children and adults interpret for themselves what they see in their paintings, to talk about it."

"It's a good way of working through a lot of feelings, a very safe way, because it's non-verbal," she adds. "It feels better for a lot of people than verbalization. Instead of sitting there with a therapist, you're doing something, you're involved — not racking your brains, trying to think of what to say, going over painful memories."

Most of her adult clients protest that they don't know how to draw, and Margot must convince them that they "don't have to have an artistic bone in their bodies." (Children tend to be less inhibited about their artistic ability, she notes.) What counts is one's "sense of color and design, and how they see and perceive things," she explains.

A picture may look like a blob, a mess, but I ask questions about what it means, to help the client look at it and see what it means." And quite often, she adds, her clients discover that they in fact have much more talent than they had ever suspected.

Margot works with children and adults ("you're supposed to specialize in one or the other, but I never could decide which age group I like the best"), with groups and with individual patients. Expressive therapy can lead to "catharsis," she says — and sometimes, "some really amazing things happen."

She describes the case of one 26-year-old man who was "very withdrawn from the world," almost catatonic. He was part of a therapy group working at the Addison Gallery at Phillips Academy, in a session that was being videotaped.

The young man could not bring himself to look into anyone's eyes. But he was not afraid to look through the camera as the taping progressed, and in that way he participated in the session. When the tape was played back for the group, he was able to "share" the experience. "He got talking again. He was really responding," Margot recalls. "It was a major breakthrough."

Another man, a long-term psychiatric patient, had never drawn before he started expressive therapy with Mrs. Porter. He had had a lobotomy. Working with the therapist, this man began to draw portraits.

He did wonderful, marvelous things. And through his art, he showed that he was still human.

One of the "most meaningful" aspects of Margot's work as a therapist is the time she spends at Hospice of Greater Lawrence, where she helps the terminally ill "put their lives in order, to express their life history as they see it and feel good about themselves again. I hope to work more with the Hospice people," she says, "to help them savor their lives and enrich their last few months."

Mrs. Porter became interested in her field while serving as a volunteer art therapist at Danvers State Hospital, and later as an occupational therapist (really "more of an art therapist") at the Greater Lawrence Day Treatment Center. She joined the treatment center staff when the center was new, about eight years ago, and found the job "fabulous. It was very intense — I just loved it. I found it was a very natural thing for me."

As part of her graduate work, she served a student internship working with children at St. Ann's Home in Methuen, and as an occupational therapist working with multi-handicapped children at the Union School in Chelmsford. Later she became a full-time therapist working with adults at Bald Pate in Georgetown.

But even as she enjoyed her new work as a trained therapist, Margot says, "I missed the kids — the children she had taught as a private art teacher for 11 years back on Lowell Street. 'I didn't have any children in my life.'"

The children came to her studio, in an old barn at her former home, for after-school art lessons. Some of them were struggling with learning disabilities, she remembers, and that's when she first realized that the arts could give children "some way of feeling good about themselves." She taught children ages 7 to 14 in small groups of no more than six students.

Mrs. Porter is once again offering private art lessons at her home. She plans to experiment with a new "open workshop" format this summer: instead of taking a formal course, students may come to her studio by appointment to work on their drawings, paintings and sculpture whenever they have time. (She currently has openings for new students.)

Her only requirement for her students: "They have to like it. They have to come because they like art — never for busy work. I require homework. We get really involved. If they have a natural inclination, there's not enough art in school for them — if they're really interested, there just isn't enough."

She teaches without "a really planned program. It all depends on the children. I emphasize seeing, the real feeling part of it that's so essential to the process. And I teach the basics of art skills — I use a lot of clay, working in the three-dimensional part of it."

Margot's students must obey only two rules: do not copy ("that's no problem"), and never say "I can't." That last rule inspires a lot of joking among her students, who playfully try to annoy their teacher by crying, "Mrs. Porter, I can't!", but her very serious intention is to "try to avoid any negative feelings at all."

Not all parents appreciate the importance of art in their children's lives, and that, she says, is "too bad."

"The joy of art is a terribly important part of the holistic way of being — being aware and conscious of the inner and outer world. And it's such a wonderful feeling to be able to express in clay, or on paper, what you see and how you feel about it — it's very exciting."

"My biggest gift is enthusiasm," the teacher says. "I love life and I love kids — they're neat, and they're so fascinating. I learn as much from them as they learn from me."

Margot is also studying gerontology, and she has been working as a consultant with the residents of Academy Manor Nursing Home in Andover. For seniors, art can be "a wonderful way of remembering things," she explains.

Inspired by her work with children and the elderly, Margot hopes to find a way to bring the two generations together, to study the arts and nature together. Both groups could share the pleasures of being surrogate grandparents and grandchildren, in an age when many real families are "scattered," she says. "I don't know how to do it yet, but I have a lot of ideas, and I'd like lots more. I need input."

Mrs. Porter also teaches the basics of expressive therapy to teachers, nurses and activity group leaders at Northern Essex Community College.

She is one of the founders and a former president of the fledgling Merrimack Valley Arts League, which now has 150 members in Andover and North Andover. The league is meant to be "an umbrella for all the arts," and Margot's "biggest dream" is to find a home for an arts center, where artists of all kinds and all ages could work together. She hopes to one day see the center flourishing in one of Andover's old mills.

Mrs. Porter was also the founder and first director, along with Peg Serley of West Parish Church, of the Samaritans of Lawrence, a suicide prevention telephone hotline. "I'm an organizer," she says. "I'm always getting things going, then moving onto something else." (She is still a volunteer with the Samaritans.)

When she has free time — and "there's never enough time for anything" — Margot enjoys doing crafts, writing, traveling, exploring the woods and the outdoors.

If she were forced to choose between life as an artist and life as a teacher, Mrs. Porter says she would choose teaching. "I always have. I tried to do it the other way, but it didn't seem to work."

When I left the Samaritans (as director), after being on call 24 hours a day, I decided to take time out just to stay in the studio," she explains. "I couldn't do it for very long just being by myself. I need people, too."

"I enjoy life just so much, and I feel very fortunate to be so healthy and have so much energy. I'm just sort of a helping sort of person," Margot Porter concludes. "I like to help people get more out of life — to share my love of life."

58 Local Graduates At Phillips

There were 58 Andover and North Andover seniors participating in Phillips Academy's Commencement Exhibition Exercise on Sunday, June 3. The Class of 1984 has 408 seniors in this 206th year of the academy, when the academy opened in 1778, there were 13 pupils.

The graduation festivities began Saturday, June 2, at 3 p.m. with a Commencement Concert by the Academy Orchestra, followed by a reception in each of the school's residential clusters for the seniors and their families, afterwards a buffet supper was served to families. The senior class entertainment for families and faculty followed and a candlelit ecumenical Baccalaureate service in Cochran Chapel ended the evening.

The Clan McPherson Bagpipers led the commencement procession on Sunday at 9:30 a.m. down the campus and up the Elm arch to the Great Lawn before the steps of Samuel Phillips Hall where the outdoor commencement took place.

The traditionally simple exhibition exercises began with invocation and prayers by the academy's chaplains. After initiation of the new Cum Laude Society members, music by the Brass Ensemble and awarding of four special commencement prizes to seniors, the president of the student body, T. Jordan Smyth of Charlotte, S.C., spoke briefly to his classmates. Headmaster Donald W. McNemar delivered the commencement address to the graduating class at Phillips Academy, emphasizing the theme of service in the spirit of the school's motto, "Non Sibi—not for one's self."

Melville Chapin, president of the trustees of Phillips Academy, awarded diplomas symbolically to the class officers. After the ceremony, the new graduates followed a long tradition by forming a huge circle on the lawn in front of the Addison Gallery to distribute the individual diplomas, surrounded by family and friends. Afterwards Headmaster and Mrs. McNemar welcomed them at a light buffet luncheon to speed the Class of 1984 on their way.

The graduates

Local Residents Win Awards At Brooks

Brooks Seniors

Applauding their graduating friends at the Monday, May 28, Brooks School graduation are, from left, Stephen H. Rogers, of Andover, and Matthew Rorke, of North Andover.

A dozen local graduates walked off with many of the annual awards at the Brooks School graduation on Monday, May 28, at the North Andover private school.

Three Andover residents were among the 79 students who graduated from the Great Pond Road school. And, there were nine North Andover students who graduated last Monday.

Speaking to the graduates at the outdoor ceremony that was interrupted by rain midway through and had to reconvene in the school hockey rink, was Samuel Swindell, the Student Council president; Richard Holmes, who served as acting headmaster in the absence of H. Peter Aitken; and Stephen Eyre, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

The diplomas were handed out by Holmes, Aitken, who returned from a sabbatical for the graduation; Michael McCahill, also acting headmaster; and Eyre.

James J. Wiseman, Stinson Road, won the music prize at the 53rd commencement ceremony. He is the son of Charles and Ann Wiseman and will attend Boston College this fall. Also from Andover, Stephen H. Rogers, Sunset Rock Road, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving E. Rogers Jr., 55 Sunset Rock Road was among the graduating seniors. He will attend the University of New Hampshire. And, Jennifer H. Smith, Abbott St., who will go on to Vanderbilt University, graduated from Brooks. She is the daughter of Carol and Dwain Smith.

Andover resident David Moson, who will be a senior at Brooks next year, won the Ernest Wright prize in astronomy at the graduation. He is the son of Fred and Marie Moson, Bittersweet Lane.

Graduating with special recognition, from North Andover, was Caroline C. Dunnell, daughter of Patricia and William Dunnell, who won the George B. Blake Prize for voluntary and generous service. Dunnell, who lives on the Brooks campus, will attend the University of Massachusetts next year. Joseph A. Torrisi, who graduated magna cum laude, won the math prize at the graduation ceremony. Torrisi is the son of Alfred and Maria Torrisi, Woodcrest Drive. He will attend Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Melissa A. Voisine, the daughter of Maureen and Peter Voisine, Morton St., graduated magna cum laude and was awarded the North Andover Scholarship, the classics prize, the science prize and a commendation with merit in the national Greek exam. Voisine will attend Johns Hopkins University this fall. Also winning the North Andover Scholarship, with Voisine, was Cordelia A. Ward, a cum laude graduate who is the daughter of Maria and Graham Ward. Ward, who lives at Brooks, also won the Kerri Ann Kattar Award. She will attend Harvard University this fall.

Graduating cum laude was Christine A. Connor, daughter of Patricia and Eugene Connor, Woodcrest Drive, who will attend Georgetown University and Andrea R. Yameen, daughter of Katherine and Kenneth Yameen, Bridle Path, who will attend the University of Vermont this fall.

Also graduating, from North Andover, was Gordon A. Brown, son of Harold and Brenda Brown, Olympic Lane, who will attend the University of Pennsylvania next fall; John S. Chaput, the son of Fred and Rita Chaput, Boxford St., who will attend American International College and Matthew C. Rorke, son of Daniel and Mary Ann Rorke, Parker St., who will attend Union College.

North Andover underclassmen who won awards at the ceremony were Renuka Bhan, Kingston St., who was awarded the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Medal for excellence in math and science and the Harvard Club of Andover book prize. She is the daughter of Lila and Krishen Bhan.

Naomi Shea, daughter of Marilyn and Preston Shea, won the George A. Tirone Prize for unusual promise in the visual arts. Shea lives on the Brooks campus.

A special award was presented to Brooks football coach Bill Poirot, a classics teacher at the school. He won the Frank D. Ashburn athletic award.

Framingham

MaryLee Poirier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Poirier, 29 Bradford St., North Andover, received a bachelor of arts degree in sociology during commencement exercises at Framingham State College on May 27. Her minor was psychology and her sociology concentration was deviance and social control.

Poirier also received a leadership recognition award from the Framingham State College Alumni Association this year because of her role as treasurer of the sociology club, volunteer work as a Big Sister for the Greater Lawrence Big Brother Big Sister Association and an internship at the Harbinger House in Framingham, the emergency shelter for girls aged 14 to 17.

Women's Program

Women's organizations are urged to send representatives to a celebration at the Schlesinger Library on the History of Women in America at Radcliffe College on June 14. The event will celebrate the importance of women's voluntary associations in the history of the United States and their impact on local communities and public policy.

The Schlesinger Library is the repository for the records of many national, state and local groups. It collects published and unpublished materials on women's rights, women workers, women in the professions, the labor movement and government and politics, women in the family and other areas.

Organizations that would like to participate are urged to call Patricia King, director, Evans House, 100 North Main St., for more information.

Art Exhibit

Twenty Under Twenty, an exhibition showing the works of 20 Boston artists between the ages of 18 and 20, will be on display through June at Northeastern University's African American Master Artists Residency Program. The exhibition is located at the Center for the Visual Arts, 100 North Main St.

Baylor

Matthias C. Kurth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kurth, 10 Rennie Drive, Andover, received the Doctor of Philosophy degree from Baylor College of Medicine in ceremonies held May 21 in Houston.

Kurth received his degree in cell biology. He will continue study at Baylor to receive a Doctor of Medicine degree in 1985.

He received his undergraduate degree in chemistry from Rice University in Houston in 1977, graduating with highest honors. Dr. Norman Hackerman, president of Rice University, was the commencement speaker.

At Baylor Kurth received a National Institutes of Health medical scientist training scholarship. His graduating class included 134 men and 49 women.

Baylor College of Medicine is the only private medical school in the southwest.

Attains Honors At Wilson

Laurel A. LoPresti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. LoPresti, 14 Wildwood Road, Andover, received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in International Studies from Wilson College, Chambersburg, Penna., at commencement exercises May 20. LoPresti, achieving Dean's List status for having at least a 3.4 grade point average for her entire senior year, received the Buchanan Award for outstanding service to her college community. Voted on by her classmates to receive this honor, LoPresti had been involved in numerous activities during her four years at Wilson, exemplifying the qualities of leadership and scholarship associated with this award.

LoPresti lettered in volleyball, lacrosse and English horsemanship, receiving a four-year pin for participation in volleyball and placing Reserve Champion in the Schooling Hunter Division at the April Horse Show at the college.

During her junior year she served as the editor-in-chief of the annual yearbook and as president of her class. She was elected senior class president, a highlight of that experience being her commencement address. LoPresti was crowned the attendant to the May Queen during the annual May Day celebration held during the first weekend in May.

North Adams

Lynne E. Pellicone

Two Andover women graduated from North Adams State College at an outdoor ceremony on Saturday, May 26.

Mary E. Karstens, 15 Abbot Bridge Drive, received a bachelor of arts degree in history. Karstens, who minored in political science, was active in many campus organizations including intramural sports and the intramural athletic council, the winter carnival committee. She was a group leader at freshman and transfer orientation. Karstens also was a student affairs intern for judicial affairs and she interned teaching American government and political science courses. She was a member, past secretary and president of Kappa Omicron and the North Adams Greek Council, which she served as treasurer.

Karstens was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities and received a Massachusetts State Board of Higher Education honors scholarship. She also won the Center for the Study of the Presidency award.

Also graduating from North Adams was Lynne E. Pellicone, 85 Cross St., who received a bachelor of science degree in business administration, finance and economics. She minored in computer science and was a member of the Computer Society and Association of Computing Machinery. Pellicone was also a dean's list student and received intramural sports.

Linda Petzold, left, and Therese Reichert are volunteers for the Greater Lawrence Hospice. Above, they discuss their work with the families of terminally ill persons.

Hospice - An Imported Program Dedicated To Caring

By Susan Rand

As English citizens traveled on long and difficult journeys in the Middle Ages they stopped to rest at a waystation or shelter called a hospice. Giving the same kind of care and support to the difficult lives of terminally ill persons are Andover residents Linda Petzold and Therese Reichert, both of whom are volunteers with an organization called, appropriately enough, the Greater Lawrence Hospice.

Hospice is a new form of health care that was imported from St. Christopher's Hospital in London a decade ago and hospice volunteers have been working in the area for two years. More recently, the Greater Lawrence Hospice joined forces with the Home Health and Nursing Services last October and both groups share office space on Andover Street, in North Andover.

Therese Reichert, Cheever Circle, and Linda Petzold, Jenkins Road, became involved with hospice after difficult experiences with deaths in their own families. Reichert explained that after her mother died of cancer she kept thinking "there had to be a better way to die." And Petzold said a closeness with her family and a strong dislike of hospitals lead her to learn more about hospice care.

Hospice volunteers, who must complete a ten-week training course, are a part of a coordinated effort by Hospice and Home Health workers to help persons who are dying live each day to the fullest. David Duncan, director of volunteers for Hospice, explained that the group focuses on life not death.

"We are sometimes perceived as the death squad," said Duncan, a former assistant minister at Andover's West Parish Church. "But that's not what we are. We are about life and living not death and dying."

Petzold explained that a major goal of the hospice volunteers is to help families understand that the ill person is going to die.

"We try to make death a comfortable and acceptable issue," explained Petzold. "No one says death is fun. And we can't take a person's pain away for them so we try and let them let us do other things."

Put simply, hospice care can involve taking care of a few young children while their mother or father, who may be the son or daughter of a terminally ill person spends a few precious hours alone. Or a hospice volunteer might spend a half hour on the phone with a dying person or a member of the family who needs to talk about the everyday frustrations that crop up when a family member is dying. Sometimes the volunteers find the families of the dying person need more help than the ill relative. At first it is hard for a volunteer to know who she or he will help the most, said Petzold.

Hospice volunteers are assigned to a family only after an assessment is made of an ill person by Duncan and a nurse from Home Health. Duncan stressed that hospice care is only offered when both the patient and physician approve and support the idea. Most of the hospice clients are cancer patients but other terminally ill persons, such as those with Alzheimer's Disease, are candidates for hospice care.

But, just because a person has cancer does not make them a hospice candidate. The group does not work with those that are undergoing "curative" treatment. Persons who have a disease but are not dying from it are not hospice candidates, explained Duncan. But, said the former minister, the Hospice and Home Health group is planning to begin a cancer support group for persons who have cancer but may be in the curative stages of the disease.

If a person is thought to be in need of hospice care, after the assessment, a volunteer is assigned to the family as well as a social worker, physical or occupational therapists as needed and visiting nurses and home health aides who help with everyday personal health care.

Because the times spent with families of the ill persons can be full of stress the hospice volunteers need support for the help they give. And because they can learn from each other's experiences the volunteers meet two times a month for a few hours, a meeting that Petzold emphatically said they all need.

Reichert said that after a hard day with a family, she needs to spend time doing "frivolous things." A day in the family hot air balloon with her husband is how Petzold spends her precious free time.

Hospice care is funded in a variety of ways, including insurance payments, United Fund financial support and private donations, many times made as memorial contributions in the name of a friend or relative who was under hospice care.

The need for highly specialized and around-the-clock medical care often means that a dying person has to enter a hospital in the last few days of his or her life. Many times this switch is difficult for the patient, who would prefer to die at home, and for the family as new "life-saving" medical devices are introduced to prolong a life. It is this drastic switch in the quality of a dying person's life that has become the impetus for a long-range plan to have a hospice facility where people go to die. Duncan explained that although it is sometime in the future he is involved in investigating such a place either existing on its own or as a wing in a nearby hospital.

Petzold said the contradiction the family of a dying person encounters when the ill member enters the hospital is often hard to understand. A hospital works on the premise that a person is not going to die, she said.

But these people aren't in hospitals to be cured," explained Petzold. "They are there to die."

The learning process works both ways for the Hospice volunteers. One of Petzold's clients was an elderly woman with cancer who died in her sleep. The woman had accepted death and helped Petzold's children begin to understand dying. One afternoon the three young girls brought the woman flowers, said Petzold, and after getting to know her they were sad when she died. But they have since become more comfortable with death.

Other Andover residents who work as Hospice volunteers are Kathy Frazier, Sally Hudgins, Edna Kidd, Alice McGann, Michael Patrakis, Margot Porter and Georgiana Smith. The six Andover residents in the current training program are Sharon Anderson, Karen Barkovitz, Jean Carnes, Martha Doyle, Gladys Hansberry and Judy O'Neill.

To sign-up for a Hospice training program, or find out more about the organization contact David Duncan at 689-0383.

September Wedding Planned

Art Exhibit

The paintings of Wilmington artist, Dora Hirtle, will be on display each weekday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. through June 15 at the American Mutual Insurance Companies, Wakefield.

A native of Nova Scotia, she has been interested in art all her life, but only seriously pursued it after taking up residence in Wilmington in 1976. Although primarily self-taught, she took private lessons in pastel, watercolor and oil painting and attended classes in design at the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design, Halifax, N.S.

Hirtle has exhibited in Halifax, N.S., and in banks and libraries in Massachusetts, as well as art shows in Andover, Boston, Gloucester, Reading, Tewksbury, Wakefield and Wilmington.

The public is welcome to view the exhibit.

Kitemaking

Billing herself as the "Julia Child of the kite-making world," Susan B. Levine will lead a family workshop on Kitemaking in the Peabody Museum of Salem's Oriental Garden on Sunday, June 10, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Families will construct a Japanese kite, "Nagasaki Hata," when in Japan, of brightly colored, tissue-thin paper, each appliqued with an original design.

Space permits only 20 kites. Levine will repeat her workshop on July 8. On August 12 she will construct a Chinese centipede kite.

A WEEK IN THE LIFE OF A DIETER

Wed. Pick up a friend, go to the meeting. Get in line to be weighed - Lose a pound. Listen to your lecturer. Go home.

Thurs. Devise your daily meal plan. Follow it.

Fri. Cheat a little.

Sat. Cheat a lot. What the heck! It's the weekend.

Sun. Cheat like mad. After all the damage is done.

Mon. Let's get serious now. Select a fat. Select a veggie.

Tues. Select a protein. Select a fruit.

Wed. Eat nothing today. Have to be weighed tonight.

If this sounds all very familiar to you. We'd like for you to know that there is another way.

Give us a call or drop in and see us.

Taking Survey

Members of St. Augustine's parish will be making visitations and surveying senior citizens beginning this week. Parish volunteers, under the direction of Sister Georgiana Smith, S.N.D., will be seeing if the parish is reaching the needs of the senior citizens and informing them of what the parish has to offer. All volunteers will be wearing identification badges. Preparing to make the visits are, from left, Brother Paul Roberts, Sister Georgiana Smith, Barbara Driscoll, Edna Power, Rev. Richard O'Leary, OSA, pastor, Mary Neville and Helen Belanger.

Eight To Receive Communion

On Sunday, June 10, the Day of Pentecost, eight young people of Faith Lutheran Church will be admitted to the Sacrament of Holy Communion for the first time at the 10:30 Service. They are Richard Benton, Steven Browell, Timothy Chapin, Robert Edge, Laura Koerekel, Timothy Krabec, Cheryl Pelletier and Nicole Wendi.

These young people have completed a six-week

Bread

Your amazing body knows more than most people think when it comes to absorbing the nutritional contents of foods. Recent studies indicate that many Americans don't have the clear facts about bread.

They think bread is high in calories and low in nutrients, when the facts are just the opposite. Bread offers substantial nutrients for the few calories (about 75 per slice) that it supplies. Two one ounce slices (about 150 calories) provide as much as eight percent of the U.S. Recommended Daily allowances of protein, riboflavin and iron as well as ten percent of the niacin and 15 percent of thiamin.

To Celebrate Pentecost Sunday

The congregation of the Ballard Vale United Church (United Methodist Church, United Church of Christ) will celebrate Pentecost Sunday at its 9:30 a.m. Family Service. To mark the occasion, worshippers are asked to wear something red, the Spiritsong Ecumenical Dance Choir will interpret the Pentecost story and "Sound the Trumpet of Praise" is the offertory anthem. James Sayers is the choir director and organist and Dino Martone is the trumpeter. The Rev. Gary S. Cornell, the church's pastor, will have "Wind and Fire" as his preaching theme. The United Church of Christ Pentecost Peace Offering will be received during the service.

All will share in a time of fellowship and light refreshments with the cutting of a Pentecost cake on the front lawn of the church, following the service.

Lynne McCoart Was Andover High Teacher

Lynne McCoart, a teacher at Andover High School, died Thursday, May 31, at Massachusetts General Hospital following a long illness. She was 39.

Born in Buffalo, N.Y., she was raised and educated in Cattaraugus, N.Y. Mrs. McCoart was a graduate of Boston University Sargent College and received an M.Ed. in Adapted Physical Education from Springfield College and an M.S. in Public Health Administration from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Before coming to the Andover school system, Mrs. McCoart was a physical education teacher for emotionally disturbed youth at Our Lady of Lourdes School, Springfield (1969-70) and a mental retardation project coordinator for the division of continuing education at the University of Massachusetts (1973-74). She served as an instructor for special needs adults with Andover's Department of Community Services, was a parent volunteer with the Buddy Warner ski team and a member of the Andover Jewish Fellowship.

A health educator with the Andover Public Schools since 1979, Mrs. McCoart was respected by her colleagues and students for her personal commitment to adolescent issues. Her dynamic leadership in combating the problem of drunk driving led Andover to become one of the first schools in the country to initiate a SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) Chapter in the high school. As SADD faculty advisor, she was recognized by the National Safety Council and Massachusetts State House of Representatives for her work.

In a recent awards ceremony she was remembered by Elaine Scanlon, A.H.S. SADD Chapter president. "We would like Mrs. McCoart to know that we admire her profound courage and inner strength and that we love her for those special gifts which she has shared with us so generously. She has taught us many things that we students of Andover High School will long remember."

Mrs. McCoart is survived by her husband, Stafford, son Justin, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Simon of Dunedin, Fla.

A memorial service was held Monday, June 4, at the November Club, Locke Street, Andover, with burial in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Andover Jewish Fellowship, Cattaraugus Free Library, Cattaraugus, N.Y. 14719 or Andover High School Lynne McCoart Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Stress

Life's problems and frictions often combine to create stress. Stress sometimes lifts us up. More often it frazzles our nerves, shreds our emotions, even makes us ill. But we can learn to manage stress.

Experts say adopting a positive, optimistic attitude will help us manage stress better, resist it more firmly and flow with it more smoothly.

Try not to brood. If you can do something constructive, do it—and soon. If the matter is beyond your control, do your best to accept it cheerfully and ride it out, as you would a stretch of bad weather.

Poor eating patterns are a source of stress, second only to emotional or mental causes. In fact, they frequently interact to heighten stress. Here are three sound nutritional guidelines to help: check food packages for nutrients and calories. Too few of the first and too many of the latter can add up to surplus body fat and stress. Control intake and sugar and animal and dairy fat. Seek healthful substitutes for alcohol and cigarettes, both stress causes.

Gladys Brainerd

Gladys Brainerd of 22 Morton St., Andover, an Andover resident for more than 60 years, died June 2 at her home. She was 88.

Born in Lawrence, Miss Brainerd was the youngest of 12 children, and a member of a family that had descended from many of the Merrimack Valley's seventeenth-century settlers. She graduated from Lawrence High School in 1912 with the highest marks in her class, and earned the Hood Medal. Although she was accepted into Smith College, she stayed at home to help care for two of the children of her deceased brother, Irvin, when her parents adopted the children. She moved to Andover with her sisters in 1929, where she was employed by the Department of Public Welfare and attended South Church. An accomplished pianist, she had also been employed by the Oliver Ditson Music Company of Boston. She belonged to the New England Aquarium and the Andover Historical Society.

She leaves her niece and adopted sister, Ruth (Mrs. Howard S.) Trott of Andover, two grandnieces, Karen Courtenay and Kristina Trott, with whom she lived; one sister-in-law, Erna (Mrs. Charles M.) Brainerd of Lawrence; three nieces, Margaret (Mrs. E. Evan) Reynolds of Weston, Conn.; Marilyn (Mrs. James) Cook of Jaffrey, N.H. and Mrs. L. Hazel Hinchcliffe of Lawrence; and three nephews, Gordon C. Brainerd, Sr. of Billerica, and Frederick D. and Eric I. Brainerd, both of Andover.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Breen Funeral Home, 122 Amesbury St., Lawrence. Burial was in Bellevue Cemetery.

Sister Andrea Reusch

Sister Andrea Reusch, OP, born Mary V. Reusch, died May 31 at St. Catherine's Infirmary, Caldwell, N.J. She was 91.

Born in Providence, R.I., she came to Lawrence as a child. She was educated at the John R. Rollins School, Lawrence High School, and Lowell Normal School, and graduated from Fordham University with a teaching degree in 1922. Before entering the Dominican Order in 1917, she had been employed as a teacher in the Lawrence public schools, and as a penmanship supervisor in Billerica and Stoneham. She taught at the Lacordaire Academy, Upper Montclair, N.J.; St. Peter and Paul School, Jersey City, N.J.; St. Ann's School, Newark, N.J.; and St. Aloysius Academy, Caldwell, N.J. Before retiring in 1969, she taught for two years at the Mount St. Dominic Academy in Caldwell.

Sister Reusch leaves four brothers, Francis, Nicolas and Augustine Reusch of Lawrence; and Andrew Reusch of Methuen; two sons, John Walsh of Andover and Bertha Plante of Haverhill; and a number of nieces and nephews.

A funeral Mass was celebrated in St. Catherine's Chapel in Caldwell. Burial was in the Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Josephine Puglisi

Josephine (Peri) Puglisi of 23 West Lincoln Circle, Andover, died May 31 at Lawrence General Hospital. She was 66.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Mrs. Puglisi belonged to St. Augustine's parish in Andover. She was a member of the Sacred Heart Society at the church.

She leaves her husband, Thomas Puglisi; two daughters, Grace (Mrs. Roland) Bouvier of Andover and Mary (Mrs. Stephen) Lehan of Kennebunk Beach, Me.; one son, Thomas Jr. of Andover; one brother, Marian Peri of Madison, N.J.; five nieces, and four nephews.

A funeral Mass was offered Monday morning at St. Augustine Church. Burial was in West Parish Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of the Burke Funeral Home, 390 North Main St., Andover.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Augustine Church, Andover, or to the charity of one's choice.

Artists Of The Month

The watercolor and pastel paintings of the students of Bette Wasserboehr are on display at Memorial Hall Library for the month of June. An enthusiastic teacher, Wasserboehr stresses drawing composition and values in her classes, sponsored by the Andover Artists Guild.

A member of the Academic Artists Guild, Copy Society of Boston, North Shore Art Association, and the Andover Artists Guild, Wasserboehr is an associate in a gallery in Kennebunkport, Maine, during the summer months.

Due to the interest in past Wasserboehr exhibits, the library is pleased to display the talents of many of her local students.

Schools Exhibit

In observance of "No Better Place to Learn Week," sponsored by the Andover Public Schools, Memorial Hall Library is displaying several interesting exhibits from the oceanography, art and shorthand classes at Andover High School. Educational posters regarding good health and peer counseling are also on display at the library through June 19. Teachers, Mary Pitocheh and Camy Galvagna, coordinated the exhibit.

Speedreading Course—Sanborn Associates' Speedreading Course is once again being offered at Memorial Hall Library. Response to the course in the past has been enthusiastic, with almost all participants doubling or tripling their reading speed. Victor Sanborn will be the instructor.

Two courses will be offered. The morning class is scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to noon, July 17-Aug. 9. The evening class will meet Mondays, July 9-Aug. 6, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Sewer, Water Rates Increased

Acting on their new policy to gradually make Andover's sewer and water services self-supporting, the selectmen Monday night voted unanimously to increase the sewer rate by 20 percent and the water rate by 15 percent.

The new rates, to be effective in January 1985, are "a step toward self-sufficiency over a four-year period," Town Manager Kenneth Mahony told the board.

The manager said he hopes to see water and sewer rates completely cover the cost of providing those utilities by fiscal year 1988 — although he added that it may take a year or two longer to reach that goal.

Public Works Director Robert McQuade called the 15- and 20-percent increases approved this week "very reasonable." At the moment, he said, Andover is "not charging anywhere near what we should" for water and sewer services.

Finance and Budget Director Anthony Torrisi noted that water rates were last increased in 1979, while sewer rates were last increased in 1981.

The selectmen approved an increase in water rates from 83 cents to 95 cents per 100 cubic feet of water, effective January 1985. The rate for emergency water supply to neighboring communities will rise from $1.02 to $1.17 per 100 cubic feet, effective Aug. 1 of this year.

Sewer rates will rise from 56 cents to 67 cents per 100 cubic feet, effective next January.

Chairman Donn Byrne said the board will review both rates annually before approving further increases, emphasizing that they plan to "phase in self-sufficiency of utilities."

Residential property-owners will benefit from the new policy of self-supporting water and sewer service, according to the manager.

The selectmen's former policy of including 30 percent of those costs in the property tax rate "penalized homeowners," Mahony said, because residential taxpayers pay up to 75 percent of Andover's total tax rate — but use no more than 50 percent of the utilities. In effect, homeowners have been "subsidizing" business and industry's share of water and sewer rates, he said.

The DPW director predicted that as water and sewer rates rise, so will consumers' efforts to cut back their use: increased conservation will probably begin in industry, followed by more conservation on the residential front, McQuade said.

Accepts Lawrence Post

Andover's Department of Community Services program coordinator David O'Neill will leave his Andover post on Friday, June 22, for a job with the Lawrence Heritage State Park Program.

David O'Neill

O'Neill, who lives in Byfield, told THE TOWNSMAN in an interview that he was excited about his new position in Lawrence but will miss many of the Andover people with whom he worked on programs for the playgrounds, schools, DCS courses and sports leagues.

"I have such a good feeling about my job and the people of Andover," said O'Neill. "And I won't be very far away."

A graduate of Northeastern University, O'Neill worked in Auburn and Danvers before coming to Andover three years ago. His new post puts him in charge of a staff of ten and the recreational and cultural programming and maintenance for the soon-to-be-created park. He will also develop programs for a visitor's center planned for a former five and dime store at the corner of Jackson and Canal Streets in Lawrence, where O'Neill will have an office.

The summer will bring many new experiences for O'Neill who's wife, Pam, is expecting their first child in September.

"I wasn't looking for a career change but that's what this is," he said. "And my experience in Andover is the reason why I got this job. It's been a great opportunity for me to learn here in this town."

To Discuss Lowell Street Parking

During a future meeting, the selectmen will discuss the problem of anarchistic parking and driving habits around Barron's Country Store, at the corner of Lowell Street and Haggetts Pond Road.

The town manager Monday night asked the selectmen to drive out to West Andover to take a look at the situation before discussing it further. The parking lot of the busy convenience store is not bordered by curbing, and many drivers cut through the parking lot from Lowell Street to Haggetts Pond Road. And as Selectman Norma Gammon noted, many also "park hither-sither."

Manager Kenneth Mahony said he'd like to come up with "some sort of design to stop drivers from taking short-cuts through the store's parking lot, possibly by adding some curbing.

Planners Have Reservations, But Approve Jenkins Road Cluster

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Despite some "severe reservations" about the proposal, the Planning Board Tuesday night approved modifications to a definitive subdivision plan for Jenkins Estates, a 13-lot cluster subdivision off Jenkins Road.

The planners also voted to grant special permits to cluster and for earth regrading at Jenkins Estates.

Developer Roscoe Construction Company of Burlington may now begin construction at the 23-acre site, located near the North Andover line. The clustered development will include nine acres of open space.

As conditions of their approval, the board stipulated that the developer must follow a construction schedule they have outlined, and avoid using residential roads as much as possible when trucking earth material onto the site.

When they reviewed definitive plans for 15 clustered lots at Jenkins Estates in April, the planners indicated that they had serious concerns about the amount of filling proposed for the subdivision.

Engineer Woody Cammett of Cammett and Kutensky Engineering, Amesbury, said 9,000 cubic yards of earth material would be trucked onto the site, possibly from the Andover Country Club subdivision across town. That extensive filling is necessary to build septic systems on the site.

The developer has since scaled down the plan from 15 to 13 lots, and now estimates that about 6,000 cubic yards of fill — some 400 truckloads — will have to be brought onto the site. In addition, the length of the proposed subdivision roadway has been reduced by 60 feet.

Staff planner Nancy Jeton described a construction schedule that would require the developer to complete the roadways this summer; delay major filling until next fall, and divide the construction into three phases, with no more than four lots open at one time during the first two phases.

The planners will also regulate soil erosion control at the site, and will require the developer to prevent stockpiled earth material from blowing around the area.

As a further condition of their approval, the board will also require the developer to use only "major streets" for trucking in fill, wherever possible, to "reduce impact on residential roads."

The planners approved both the modified definitive plan and the special permits on four-one votes, with Michael Houghton opposed on both votes.

Houghton explained that he was "not impressed with the layout" of the subdivision designed for the steeply-graded site, and believed the developer could have come up with "a much better use" of the land.

The planners' approval was "almost irresponsible," he said, adding that the potential truck traffic and major earth filling are destined to add up to "a mess out there."

But his colleagues indicated that even though they shared Houghton's concerns, they believed they had no legal grounds for denying the proposal.

Planner Russ Moran noted that because the plan meets existing state laws and town regulations, to deny it might lead to a losing court battle — and ultimately leave the board no opportunity to impose restrictions on the construction.

Moran added, however, that he had "severe reservations" about the amount of earth filling proposed for Jenkins Estates.

During a public hearing on the subdivision held at the town offices Tuesday night, Roberta Shupe of Salem Street presented the board with a petition signed by 71 townspeople, representing 51 Salem Street residences

According to Shupe, the petition called for banning all truck traffic headed to and from Jenkins Estates from Salem Street between Main Street and Route 125. Such traffic would worsen deterioration of the street, create a safety hazard to children, and disrupt the "purely residential neighborhood," Shupe said.

Chairman Margaret Bradshaw said the developer would be asked to enter and exit Salem Street from the Route 125 end only, avoiding the Main Street access to Salem.

In other comments made during the public hearing, Glen and Becky Armbruster of Salem Street questioned the effect that Jenkins Estates might have on wetlands and private wells in the area.

The planners replied that they were satisfied the subdivision would have no negative impact on wetlands and groundwater in the area.

Later Tuesday night, the board denied preliminary subdivision plans for a 21-lot clustered subdivision proposed for a 34-acre site off South Main Street, behind the Colonial Village apartment complex. The developer is SRE Realty Trust, and the engineer is Stephen Stapski of Merrimack Engineering Services, Andover.

With their unanimous vote to disapprove the preliminary plans, the board explained that they were concerned about adding a new roadway front the Colonial Drive entrance. "We don't want to see two separate major accesses in that area," planner Fran Tancos said, because the resulting traffic could pose a safety problem.

The developer has advised an alternate plan that calls for combining his subdivision with the apartment roadway, leaving one access instead of two in the area. But the apartment owner has not agreed to the proposal.

Chairman Bradshaw indicated that the board would not approve the definitive plans for the subdivision, but the petition issue of the access road was resolved.

Storm Poses Hazards As River Again Threatens Pump Station

By Sue Aucella Deacon

On the fifth straight day of rain last week, Andover's troubles began: the Riverina Road sewage pumping station was strained beyond its capacity, the Shawsheen River overflowed its banks on Stevens Street, two businesses were closed, and homes near the river town were more than a little soggy.

A state of emergency was declared in Andover Monday morning, and not lifted until Monday morning. But a potentially hazardous situation was well-handled by the Public Works, police and fire departments, the town manager said Monday night.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony noted that the river rose to just two inches below its 1976 high water mark, when the Shawsheen last overflowed its banks. At one point on Saturday, the waters were rising at the rate of almost an inch per hour.

According to Public Works Director Robert McQuade, the rains that started falling late Monday began to take their toll on Friday when the Riverina Road sewage pumping station could no longer keep up with the water pouring into its antiquated system.

DPW began pumping sewage directly into the Shawsheen River on Friday, to avoid back-ups into Shawsheen Village houses and businesses, McQuade said. Crews kept three pumps busy (one town pump and two borrowed pumps) continuously, and the pumps were serviced every hour. (When one broke down, it was replaced with a pump donated from New Hampshire.)

The pumps, which were in violation of state environmental protection standards, were still in effect Monday afternoon. The mayor said he hoped to see the station "out of the woods" by Tuesday.

DPW crews were kept busy "around the clock" to avoid keeping the station operating, he said, on Friday and Saturday. They kept a truck around the Riverina Road station to isolate it. (Water damage from the river could have put the station out of the woods.)

Seifert Performance Summarized

The word used to describe Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert on Tuesday night was "excellent."

The head of Andover's schools was evaluated by members of the Andover School Committee in the annual discussion of his performance. Superintendent Two weeks ago Seifert summarized his 15th year as superintendent in a half-hour evaluation of his performance. The committee added their comments Tuesday as Chairman Donald W. Robb read from a statement he composed that included comments from all committee members. Member Susan T. Poore added comments of her own after Robb was finished.

In his part of the evaluation Seifert, who will earn $57,000 this year, called himself an "above average superintendent." He was most critical of his visibility in the town's school buildings, which the committee asked him to improve next year. The superintendent said if he had to "apologize" for nothing, it would be for his lack of visibility in the school buildings.

In his critique Seifert discussed his work in research and development of school programs, budgeting, cooperation with other towns, off-site organizational stability, his reach on the state and community expectations. He called the J. Everett Corbin Center, at the Andover High School, a "model for the country" of how private and public sectors can work together. And the superintendent said he thought the future of the schools of the future was "imminent."

Seifert told the committee that budget constraints have taken their toll on the town's schools. Morale, he said, is "not very good," resulting in part from the opening and closing of schools and the elimination of one-sixth of the school department staff over the past few years. The school head said he could understand why Andover's teachers could be "confused" by Andover's mixed messages, and that he was "not" staff.

Seifert also said that he was proud and pleased at the town's school system but added that while budgets have been cut and morale will reflect the cuts, the town's general expectations for a public school system in Andover have not changed. Robb added that he thought the most recent budget process had been "the smoothest in recent years." To which Poore added that she was impressed by the budget process, which she found simple and respectful of everyone's role, and that she would like to see a similar process in the future.

The board chair asked Seifert to be more open to the town and more sensitive to the school staff and community. Robb also said that Seifert was "not just another superintendent."

"A superintendent that lasts for 15 years is an endangered species," complimented Robb with a laugh.

Annual Meeting

The Bay State Historical League, an organization of museums, historical societies and preservation groups within the Commonwealth, will hold its 81st annual meeting June 16 at Hancock Shaker Village in Pittsfield. Reservations are now being accepted for the meeting and a day-long conference which will focus on cooperative efforts between museums and historical societies.

The annual meeting will begin at 9 a.m. with registration at the orientation center at Hancock Shaker Village, followed by a welcome from the president and the annual reports.

Cycling Across Country To Combat Hunger

By Susan Rand

They have been friends since they were in high school and this summer Aaron Gershenberg and Bob Meyer will spend 52 days together as they ride their bicycles across country to raise money to combat world hunger.

Both Andover men are part of a 65-member group that will leave Government Center in Boston, tomorrow morning at 8:30 a.m. They hope to arrive in Los Angeles, California, 4,200 miles away, on Saturday, August 4 where they will take their final bike ride around the Olympic coliseum. The group hopes to raise $1 million for Oxfam America, a Boston-based agency which funds self-help relief projects in poor countries.

In order to make it to L.A. by August 4, the riders must travel about 80 miles a day, explained Gershenberg, who graduated from Wesleyan University with a degree in economics and African studies last week-end. That means hitting the road by 7:30 a.m. each day and riding until 5 p.m., said Gershenberg. In the evenings they will sleep in church halls and community centers along the way. They will also be speaking as Oxfam ambassadors in cities and towns to any group that wants to learn about what they are doing. Local organizations in each state have offered to sponsor pot-luck suppers for the riders. And lunches will be served out of the back of a Budget

Rent-a-Car and van that will both lead and follow the group.

The ride is being sponsored by Wesleyan and Harvard University's Ride for Life, a student-run organization founded at Harvard to combat world hunger.

Meyer, 21, will be a senior at Northeastern University next fall. He explained that a trip from Kenya to Paris last summer played a large part in his decision to make the Oxfam trip. Meyer, who lives on Marie Drive, was in Africa visiting Gershenberg's family in Nairobi, which is where they spent last year. The family now lives on Lowell Street.

"When I was over there I could understand the helplessness of the people and the oppression they faced from the military," said Meyer. "When I got back this trip seemed like the natural thing to do."

Gershenberg told THE TOWNSMAN he hopes this trip will also prove that new college graduates and students are concerned with something other than getting high-paying jobs.

"We have this bad reputation," said Gershenberg, 22. "We aren't all interested in getting jobs in corporate America."

As he speaks about the bicycle trip Gershenberg peppers his comments with stories about how Oxfam will use the money that the athletes hope to raise. It is obvious that he has spent some time learning about hunger and how it can be helped. Oxfam, explained Gershenberg, does not just give food to starving people. Instead, he said, the group teaches people to help themselves. An example of an Oxfam project is the calf loaning in West Africa.

Gershenberg explained that herds of cattle are raised in the drought-ravaged Sahel region of West Africa. It was a custom to give a poor farmer a calf to use for three calling seasons after which the poor man would return the calf, who had helped him start his own herd. That custom has broken down because of the conditions in West Africa and as a result Oxfam has been lending cows to the people to keep the farming going.

The money raised by this trip, said Gershenberg will to West Africa, south of the Sahara Desert.

Oxfam came to Boston in 1970 and is one of six worldwide autonomous Oxfam groups. The name "Oxfam" comes from the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief, a group founded in 1942 in England.

Each rider is trying to raise $3,000 on their own in addition to corporate grants the group is seeking said Gershenberg who has been riding 20 miles a day to get in shape for the 19 state journey. When the group arrives in New York City they will be given a formal send-off from the United Nations. And at a stopover in Washington, D.C., sometime around June 17, the group has been invited to swim in the Kennedy family swimming pool there.

Gershenberg and Meyer will keep THE TOWNSMAN informed of their progress through letters that will be printed every so often. Gershenberg said letters of support sent to both men along the way would be appreciated.

And both riders are hoping for financial support from their home town, which Gershenberg quickly reminded was tax-deductible.

Gershenberg will be at the Demoulas Market in Shawsheen Plaza today from 4 to 9 p.m., and tomorrow, from 12 noon to 4 p.m., to garner pledges for his trip. He decided to catch up with the riders in Connecticut on Saturday, instead of leaving yesterday, so he could attend his sister's graduation from Andover High.

It is also possible to pledge money for each mile. Gershenberg and Meyer ride after the group has left. A courier will send mail to the riders each day which they will receive in the evening when they stop their daily ride. A one-cent pledge for the 4,200 mile trip amounts to $42, said Meyer. The riders are also taking pledges for less than one-cent, he said.

To write to the riders along the trip send letters and/or pledges to Aaron Gershenberg and Bob Meyer, c/o Ride for Life, Box 38, Cambridge, MA, 02238. Those that pledge money will be billed after the riders reach Los Angeles.

Curious Decision

The zoning board of appeals in a recent decision ruled that the petition for a hotel, office building in the West Andover industrial area, more properly belonged before town meeting.

In their refusal to allow the petitioners the relief they sought to build a multi-story hotel and office building, the board found that there were other problems with the request, but basically a venture of this magnitude properly belonged before voters at town meeting, rather than before the quasi-judicial body which could provide the permits.

While such a decision is not entirely disagreed with here, it would seem that some examination of the town's bylaws is in order with regard to such requests.

The matter is being addressed to a degree through the examination and updating of the town's master plan.

For some time there have been requests for development within the town's industrial zones for other than large manufacturing plants. At the annual town meeting this year, voters, for the first time, altered the thinking about the industrial area by allowing an Andover bank to locate within the particularly designated zoning area. It was the first such intrusion, if that be proper, of industrially-designated property by what might be considered commercial venture.

While the refusal for the variance had sufficient other factors, such as failure to prove hardship or other considerations, the board in a sense established a precedent for considering requests of a similar nature in other areas of the town.

How, for instance, will they react to a request for a funeral home to be located within a residential area, which is sure to command opposition when it is heard at tonight's session of the board?

Having pronounced a feeling that the hotel issue should be a matter for town meeting decision, it would appear that requests for variances or special permits which would basically alter the character of a neighborhood, or zoning district, should likewise be treated in similar fashion.

The zoning board has not only accepted but demonstrated admirably its responsibilities to act in the best interests of the town in the decisions it has handed down and the commentary here is not a fault-finding one.

What is intended, however, is a suggestion that probably some policy be established with regard to what properly belongs before town meeting and what the zoning board will consider as applicable to their authority.

In a town where growth continues to carry with it new and unusual problems from time to time, it seems in order that those within the community development and planning office can make some judgment, before major investors are subjected to unnecessary expense and loss of time in their planning procedures.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — June 1909

Harold F. Saunders was graduated from the Lowell Textile School on Thursday. His thesis was upon the subject "Estimation of Hydrocarbon Oils in Wool Lubricants."

There are two or three business houses yet in Andover who are far enough behind the times to insist that they do not need telephone connections to assist in carrying out their business. That is their private concern, but there is one semi-public institution that would hardly seem to have a right to ignore this efficient aid. We refer to the Boston and Maine Railroad Freight House.

"Brownie" writes that owing to a multiplicity of duties, he will be unable to send a report of the School Committee meeting held this week, but he will surely be on hand at the next session. He suggests that there was very little of importance at the meeting, save a long and laborious discussion of the improvements at the Ballardvale playgrounds. As this seems to be a dead issue that is always alive, perhaps it is just as well that the public is not afflicted with a discussion of it at this time.

50 Years Ago — June 1934

Two Andover girls, Miss Dorothy Trott of Central Street and Miss Mabel Marshall of Washington Avenue, were elected to the public school teaching staff at the meeting of the school committee Tuesday evening. Miss Trott will probably teach English and French at the high school and Miss Marshall will teach English, history and possibly geography in Stowe School.

The Street Railway company this week started removing the poles along Main Street in accordance with an agreement made with the selectmen last winter. One section of the track has been filled in by the town on the Hill, but the public utilities commission has informed the selectmen that the town can make the railway fill the tracks in or take them out.

It might be a good idea to have all our town meetings on hot evenings if last Thursday's meeting is proof that hot weather quiets otherwise busy tongues. The meeting was conducted, with a single exception, in a very business-like manner, and thanks to the marked decrease in the usual loquacity of our town meeting orators, very little time was wasted.

25 Years Ago — June 1959

Just over 49 percent of this year's senior class at Andover High have been admitted to an institution of higher education — requiring a high school diploma for admittance. Forty of the 120 seniors, or one-third, have been admitted at four-year, degree-granting colleges or universities. William Iggoe, director of guidance, explained that the number of admissions this year "is rather good," based on the keen competition for college entrance.

It's your personal responsibility to be certain that the special town meeting next Monday evening at 7:30 in the Memorial Auditorium succeeds in getting started with a quorum. This meeting is unusual — its main purpose is to save money, not to spend more. Presumably the meeting, if it gets started at all, will act favorably on the article to withdraw from the mosquito control project — thus saving money, without interfering with any actual control program.

The Rev. Hugh B. Penney, pastor of the West Parish Church, has announced his acceptance of a call to the pulpit of the First Congregational Church in Holden. His resignation will take effect Aug. 16. During his pastorate of more than five years, the West Parish Church has continued to grow in many ways.

10 Years Ago — June 1974

The Andover School Committee's failure to reappoint Edward Regan as assistant superintendent could be illegal, the committee was told Tuesday night. George H. Hill, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Association of School Superintendents (MASS) said he had received information from Carmine DeAdamo, Regan's attorney, "which leads us to believe that the Andover School Committee may have held private meetings contrary to the so-called open meeting law."

We heartily agree with the renewed effort being formulated by the selectmen and town manager to obtain an interchange off Route 93 for the Lowell Junction Industrial area. As pleasing to the taxpayers, as new industry has been, there remains the problem of heavy traffic through the little village of Ballardvale. Residents of Clark road rightly asked the selectmen for some relief from the heavy trucking and employer vehicles now using their street.

Scholarship awards totaling in excess of $9,000 were awarded to graduates during the 115th commencement exercises of Andover High School held Wednesday night at the Eugene Lovely Field. Ideal weather conditions prevailed for the ceremonies culminating the high school educational activities for the 434 members of the Class of 1974.

Business

crossing his plans with current tenants in the future.

The Andover store was acquired from the Rod Hill estate in 1970 to go along with the business at the Broadway, Essex Street location in 1970 and underwent extensive renovation a year ago.

Milt Cole began his Andover business in 1950, where Smitty's sandwich shop is currently located. The 11 foot by 28 foot store was heated by a single radiator, with heat provided from the boiler in the adjacent F. W. Woolworth Store.

He moved to the present property about six years later, taking over space then occupied by First National Stores which had moved out. "We had a heck of a time counteracting difficulties caused by what was the fish department," Cole recalls. He later expanded the operation when Look Photo moved to Olde Andover Village and following purchase of the business block, placed a 2,500 foot addition on the structure about four years ago.

Emphasizing that he is not retiring, Cole looked back on his Andover business career with pleasure, restating, "Every day has been fun. With slight modification, I'd do it all over again."

"I know the town is going to grow and is having some growing pains at present. But Andover has been very good to me and I hope I have been good to the town in return."

"I'm leaving with a good feeling, and enthusiastically looking forward to a new adventure," Cole concluded.

Selectmen Miffed At Townsman Editorial

Some members of the Board of Selectmen took umbrage at last week's TOWNSMAN editorial, which criticized four of the five selectmen for not marching in last Monday's Memorial Day parade.

During a board meeting at the town offices Monday night, Chairman Donn Byrne said he was "really upset" about the editorial, and considered it "a real low cheap shot."

The chairman said he was not in the line of march with town officials because he was manning a television camera, videotaping the ceremonies for local cable television. Byrne noted that he had risen at 6 a.m. to prepare for the parade.

Byrne's videotape, with commentary provided by former selectman and town manager Richard Bowen, was broadcast last Wednesday night over local cable Channel Two.

Selectman Gerald Silverman said that he was not in the parade because he was out of state, attending a family wedding. He called the editorial "irresponsible."

In comments he described as "tongue-in-cheek," Selectman William Dalton proposed that town meeting pass a bylaw requiring all new selectmen to make their schedules known for the duration of their three-year terms and certify that they are indeed able to march in a parade.

Dalton and Selectman Charles Wesson offered no explanations of why they did not turn out for the holiday observance.

The last word on the subject came from the only selectman who did march in the parade. "I'm sorry I showed up," Norma Common said with a shrug.

Program Invites Public To Learn About Schools

The Andover School Department wants townspeople to know that the best place to learn is in the Andover schools.

To teach Andover's residents this, school officials are inviting the public to attend the many events scheduled during "Schools - No Better Place to Learn Week," which runs from Monday, June 11, through Friday, June 15.

Each of the seven schools has activities ranging from plays and field trips to math and spelling bees. At the Bancroft School, Bancroft Road, there will be a "Chamber of Commerce luncheon" held by the fifth-grade children's economy. Grade two students at Sanborn School, Lovejoy Road, will travel to Boston to visit the Old North Church, Old Ironsides and ride on the swan boats at the Boston Common. At the South

School, Woburn Street, a kite festival is scheduled with a speaker talking about kites to the school children.

Grade six students from the West Elementary School, which is located on Shawsheen Road, will travel to the Academy Manor Nursing Home for a visit with residents. And junior high schoolers at Doherty and West Junior High will visit the Andover High School for orientation to the building. The play "The Importance of Being Ernest" will be performed for the Doherty students at their Bartlet Street school while West students learn about the city of Lowell.

At the Andover High School, Shawsheen Road, a college bowl competition is scheduled and townspeople are invited to an open house at the school.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

A pass-through is a short-cut, a hole in the wall that permits passing articles from one room to another without walking around the end of the wall. Pass-throughs are commonly used between kitchens and dining rooms or kitchen work areas and breakfast areas. They can also be utilized between kitchens and garages to bring in groceries; kitchens and utility rooms in which a freezer is kept; and in kitchens and dining terraces. A pass-through should be at least 12-inches high. Otherwise, one cannot see or reach through it very well. A counter or shelf, at least 12-inches deep, on one or both sides of the pass-through is also essential.

Your lifestyle is changing and you need things to be more convenient and less formal. Adding a pass-through would be the perfect solution for hassle-free meals. At WINDSOR KITCHENS we can provide the custom counters and efficient cabinets that will transform your kitchen into the ideal room for you. We feature custom wood laminated European and stock line cabinets. When you want a change for the better, see us at 1781 Boston Rd. Ward Hill, Mass. Mon-Thurs 9-5:30, Fri-Sat 10-6, by appt. We know we'll do a great job for you. Tel. 372-3444.

HANDY HINT!

A fold-down door on a pass-through can also serve as a counter.

Colsia Fires Shutout In Opener

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Gold Babe Ruth baseball team launched its 1984 Greater Lawrence League season with a tough 5-0 victory over intra-town rival Andover Blue this past weekend, righthander Chris Colsia firing a sharp three-hit shutout in action at the Phillips Academy field.

The following evening Gold hiked its early-season ledger to 2-0 with an impressive 10-3 triumph over South Lawrence West at Mt. Vernon Park.

Andover Gold, 3-0

Colsia, who worked out of early jams in the first and third innings, became stronger as the game progressed and eventually set down the last 10 Blue batters in succession.

He fanned seven, including five in the first three innings, and walked just one. Only four balls were hit out of the infield by Blue.

Fourteen-year-old righthander Steve Surette also pitched well for the Blue, tossing a complete-game seven-hitter and permitting only two earned runs.

Surette struck out five and walked three. Blue threatened in the top of the first, after Colsia had fanned the first two batters, as Cam Deery walked and Glenn Allard belted a double to right-centerfield.

Colsia escaped the trouble by whiffing the next hitter.

Gold had at least one baserunner in every inning, but didn't push its first run across until the bottom of the third.

Four balls were hit hard in the first by Gold, but Blue shortstop Jeff Smith robbed leadoff batter Rick Lafond of a hit with a diving stop up the middle, and centerfielder Pete Barry grabbed medium-deep flyballs by Mark Tucker and Mike Lane.

A walk to Earl Abdoo and a two-out error on Glenn Farnham's grounder produced an AG threat in the second, but Surette retired the next batter easily.

In the Blue third 13-year-old Pat Breen dumped an 0-2 pitch into rightfield for a single and Deery was safe on Gold's lone error with two down. Colsia worked free, however, by getting the dangerous Allard on a grounder to second baseman Scott Wallace.

Gold scored an unearned run in the third when Lafond spanked a leadoff single, moved to second on Mark Tucker's bunt and came across as Colsia's grounder skipped through the Blue infield.

Gold added a pair of insurance runs in the fourth on a leadoff single by Chris Concemi, a two-out RBI double by Lafond and an RBI single by Colsia.

Blue averted further damage when catcher Allard fired to third baseman Deery to nail Tucker (walk) trying to move from first to third on the throw home.

Blue's only other safety was a two-out, opposite-field double by Surette, while Mike Lane slapped a fifth-inning single and Lafond added his second double in the sixth for Gold.

Lafond finished the game 3-for-4 and would have been 4-for-4 except for Smith's outstanding play in the first inning.

Colsia contributed two hits and defensive standouts for AG were second baseman Scott Wallace (five chances), catcher

To escape its many enemies, a flying fish shoots out of the water and glides as far as 500 feet on its greatly enlarged fins. Some of the most powerful of flying fish can even jump over the deck of a small ship.

Babe Ruth

Lafond and 13-year old Joe Lyons with a nice catch in right-field.

Breen made an acrobatic diving attempt at Lafond's second double in left-centerfield, just missing a spectacular grab for the Blue.

Andover Gold, 10-3

Although he struggled with control problems all evening, righthander Earl Abdoo's mound debut was a success as he fired a two-hitter at South Lawrence West.

Abdoo walked 10 batters and was behind on the count to several others, but he also struck out six and pitched very tough in the clutch.

Andover Gold continued its solid slugging against one of the better hurlers in the league, SLW righthander Dan Cardillo, as the locals lashed 13 hits including a double and a pair of triples. Several other balls were hit sharply but directly at West fielders.

One of the hits off Abdoo was a vicious liner back to the box that struck him flush on the chest, but he recovered and became stronger by hurling hitless ball over the final 3-13 innings after the incident.

Gold collected its first two runs in the top of the first when Chris Colsia (3-for-4) drew a two-out walk, clean-up hitter Mike Lane lashed an RBI triple to left-centerfield, and Abdoo spiked an RBI single.

West made it 2-1 in the home half as leadoff batter Bob St. Louis walked, stole second, took third on a wild pitch and raced across on Bill Blackwell's infield out.

Two walks and an error enabled West to tie it in the second, and the clubs traded runs in the third stanza as the score remained deadlocked at 3-3.

Gold notched its third tally on a single by Colsia, an error on Abdoo's flyball, a hit batsman (Chris Concemi) and a bases-loaded walk to Kurt Burzlaff.

West's retaliated on a walk to St. Louis and a crisp double by Blackwell that barely eluded the glove of leaping shortstop Colsia.

Gold broke the contest wide open with six runs in the fifth batting around in the process.

Abdoo and Concemi singled, Burzlaff walked to load the bases. Scott Wallace sparked an RBI single to leftfield. Chris Nelson's infield grounder resulted in a fielder's choice and error for two runs. Red-hot Rick Lafond faced a two-run single and Lafond eventually crossed on a wild pitch.

In the AG seventh Lafond drilled a one-out single and Colsia lashed a run-scoring double.

Abdoo turned the first two batters in the bottom of the seventh, but an error and two walks loaded the bases before he whiffed the final batter of the game.

Lafond drilled three hits and scored two runs for the second straight game, while Chris Concemi was a perfect 3-for-4, Colsia 3-for-4 and Abdoo 2-for-5.

Defensive standouts for Gold included Concemi at third base, three assists, Mark Tucker at first, Colsia at shortstop, Burzlaff in centerfield, Abdoo with a hit-robbing grab against Bill Buckley immediately after being whacked in the chest with St. Louis' liner, and Lafond once again behind the plate.

Gold returns to action tonight at the Phillips Academy field hosting South Lawrence East.

Y Gym Team Wins Trophies

The Andover-North Andover YMCA girls gymnastic team finished its season competing in the eastern Massachusetts Optional Championship Meet on Saturday, May 19, in Danvers, taking third-place trophies in both Class III and Class IV.

The 9 and under gymnasts placed in nearly every event. Alyssa Farris had an outstanding day placing first on bars and beam and third on vault and floor and winning the first-place all around trophy. Sarah Paraci also placed in all events, taking second on floor, bars and vault and fourth on beam to take the second-place all around spot. Lori Taylor placed fifth on vault and sixth on bars and floor to finish fourth all around. Kristen Murphy placed sixth on vault, her only event.

In the 10 and 11 year age group, Michelle Black did very well, taking first on vault, second on bars and third on floor which placed her third all around. Shannon Murphy placed second on floor and third on vault and was fifth all around. Heather Kimball was the Y's lone competitor in the 12 and up group, placing first on vault and sixth on bars and floor and finishing sixth place all around.

Jennifer Byrne and Dana Ouellette also competed in this meet.

In the Class III meet Jill Coon placed fifth on beam and floor, Laura Stratton placed sixth on vault and Meg Geddes placed third on bars in the older division.

In the younger division Melissa Tatro placed first on vault and fourth on beam and bars. Kerry Bradshaw placed fifth on beam and Tricia Dawson took fifth on vault and sixth on beam.

There will be a summer workout schedule on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. for any girl interested in becoming a part of this team. Girls should be at the intermediate level of achievement or above and in grades 2-12. Registration will begin Sunday, June 10, for full privilege members. Monday, June 11, for basic members and Wednesday, June 13, for non-members at the Andover-North Andover YMCA.

Andover Boys Win Two Titles

Zack Apgar clinched the state championship for Andover on Monday, June 4, the final day of a two-day meet.

He jumped 22'7 1/4" setting an Andover High School record to take first in the long jump event.

On Saturday, the first day of the meet, Peter Comeau won the 300 meter low hurdles in 38.2, a full second ahead of the field. Ian Dowe took second in the shot put and third in the 100 while Larry Cuddy took fourth in the 400. The sprint relay team of Apgar, Comeau, Dave Casanave and Dowe took first. This victory climaxed an undefeated season for Coach Dick Collins' 25th track and field team.

The week before, Andover won the State Class B championship in Lawrence. Dowe took two first places to lead the win. With 36 teams competing, Andover tallied 82 points for first place. Methuen was second with 73 and Reading third with 48.

Dowe was clocked at 11.2 for first place in the 100 meters and threw 53'10" in the shot put for first place. Comeau took a first in the 300 meter low hurdles in 38.6 and Apgar jumped 21'8 1/2" for a win in the long jump. Cuddy placed second in the 400 meters while Rick Dow took third place in the two mile. Fourth places were won by Bob Salisbury in the 800 meters and Jon Yezerksi in the mile. Fifth place points were tallied by Keith Driscoll in the high hurdles, Bob Stabile in the 300 meter low hurdles and Andy Thomson in the long jump. The 400 meter relay team of Apgar, Comeau, Casanave and Dowe placed second while the mile relay team of Driscoll, Stabile, Salisbury and Cuddy placed fifth.

out of commission altogether.) The problem was most severe on Saturday, McQuade said.

The Shawsheen overflowed and flooded the DASA parking lot on Stevens Street on Friday, with sewage overflow included in the flood waters. Mahony Monday night told the selectmen there was "very little damage" to DASA property, although the water rose to four feet inside the industrial building at one point.

On Saturday, gas service was shut off in houses along North Main Street, opposite Shawsheen Plaza, and in one or two businesses in the area, the DPW director said. Some basements in the area were flooded.

In Ballardvale, River Street and Woburn Street were closed late Saturday and Sunday due to flooding. The manager said possible damage to the streets could not be assessed before mid-week.

McQuade said he had hoped for some relief on Saturday, when clearing was predicted. But as the rains continued, the situation was "worse than ever."

The river crested Sunday and had receded by Monday, and the director said he expected the last of the storm's unwelcome effects to be gone by Tuesday.

Andover's Civil Defense team met with third in the 440. McAllister second in the 220; Byrne and Mike Hogg first and third in the pole vault. Chris Madden third in javelin. Appar and Thompson second and third in long jump and Hebeison and Long second and third in the triple jump.

For the girls, Hodgkinson, Turgiss and Nuzzo swept the shot put with Hodgkinson setting a new school record of 42'1". Duggan and Hughes swept the high jump. Both relay teams took first. Tropeano, Weisman, Regan and Nuzzo in the 440 in 53.0 and Turgiss, Tracy, Marquis and Hughes in the mile in 4:50. McQuade and Saalfrank were first and second in the long jump. Turgiss and Wesson first and second in the 100 meter. Dwyer first in the mile. McQuade first in the 400 meter. Nuzzo first and Weisman third in the 100 meter. McCabe first and Rockow third in the 800 meter. Cuddy and Craig second and third in the 120 high hurdles. Tropeano second in the 200 and Dolan second in the two mile.

Finance and Budget Director Anthony Torrisi Saturday morning. Torrisi told the selectmen that civil defense praised the "exceptional" cooperation between police, fire and DPW workers in controlling the river.

Auxiliary police also volunteered their efforts for more than a full day, he added — and, Mahony said, some Shawsheen Village residents volunteered to help with sandbag duty (which, however, proved unnecessary).

Annual town meeting appropriated $6.7 million for a new Riverina Road sewage pumping station to replace the existing 61-year-old station. Construction is expected to begin before summer's end.

The new station will have an increased pumping capacity, as well as a new location, across the river off Tantallon Road where it will not be threatened by damage from flood waters.

Captures New England Gymnastics Crown

Jason Fox of Merrimack Valley Gymnastics continues his strong gymnastics performance by winning the New England regional championship held at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H.

Fox, whose gymnastics career spans three short years, won the highest title in Class III Compulsories by taking firsts on parallel bars and high bar with a 9.3 in each. He took seconds on rings, pommel horse and floor exercise and first in the coveted all around.

Fox finished this year's competitive season, as he did last year, when he won the state championship in Class IV Compulsories with the top prize he is eligible to attain.

The youngest son of James and Ruth Ann Fox trains with Scott MacDonald three days a week at Merrimack Valley Gymnastics.

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore

Very few soccer games were played last weekend due to the wet weather. Brief results of those games that were played, in and out of town, on fields not affected by the heavy rain, appear below:

Under 19 Division

Andover Stompers 6

Merrimack Athletics 3

Merrimack scored two quick goals early in the game. Curt Oliver made it 2-1 but Merrimack came back with another to go ahead 3-1. Shortly before the half ended, Paul Hevehan headed in a goal on a pass from Oliver to narrow the gap to 3-2. In the second half Andover tied it up and added three more to win a decisive 6-3 victory. Scoring in the second half were Nick Bates, Jeff Kennedy, Jeff Poore and Rick Boucher on a pass from Hevehan. BOW: Glenn Livermore.

Under 16 Division

Andover Bombers 3

Peabody Classics 2

Andover went ahead early in the game when Scott McIntyre scored with the assist going to Bob Boshar and Kyle McCabe. Peabody tied it up, and continued to press in the second half to eventually make it 2-1. After a lot of pressure in front of the goal, Mark Neaves tied it up and, about ten minutes later, Shannon McCabe kicked in what proved to be the winning goal on a pass from Neaves and Robin Kim to give Andover a 3-2 victory. BOW: Scott Brink, Tim Donovan and Matt McKinnon.

Andover Avengers 2

North Andover Squires 3

North Andover scored off a corner kick early in the contest to take the lead. Henning Ohlenbusch tied it up on a pass from Andy Lascher and, just before the end of the half, Scott Friesen found the range on a pass from Lascher to put Andover ahead 2-1. North Andover played very aggressively in the second half and scored two goals to win the hard-fought 3-2 victory. BOW: David Penney and David Rehe.

Andover United 0

Marblehead Whitecaps 4

The first half of the game was pretty even and Marblehead went ahead 1-0. Marblehead pressed throughout the second and added three more goals to win 4-0. BOW: Paul McAdam for an outstanding game at halfback and Chris Nelson and Bruce Crawford.

Andover Booters 2

Danvers Quakers 5

Andover Booters 3

Swampscott Esprit 0

Danvers controlled much of the first half and scored five goals to take a commanding lead. The Booters fought back in the second half and denied the shutout when Candice Kirkiles blasted a penalty shot into the upper left corner and Carlyn Cronin sent a direct kick into the right corner of the net to make it a 5-2 win for Danvers. BOW: Sheila Hamilton, Nicole DeMartino and Martha Fraser.

Earlier in the season Swampscott beat Andover 5-0. In the rematch Andover avenged the trouncing by beating Swampscott 3-0. Mary Dolan put Andover ahead when she scored from the left on a pass from Karyn Bates. Fraser, scoring her first goal, made it 2-0 with the assist going to Kirkiles. Cronin completed Andover's scoring on a long shot from the right side. BOW: Penny Starks, Caryn Mesler and Kim Pass.

Andover Flames 5

Marblehead Headers 1

Andover led 3-1 at the halfway mark with goals by Karen Sopp off a corner kick from Torrie Fitzpatrick, Cheryl Crawford on another corner kick by Fitzpatrick which Anne Kannam received and then passed to Crawford and Fitzpatrick whose corner kick went sailing into the net. Andover continued to dominate in the second half and added two more (Julie Boland and Denise Doran; assisting were Laurie Habeeb, Kannam and Boland) to win a decisive 5-1 victory. BOW: Kelly Johnson, Debbie Cookson and Eileen Murphy.

Andover Cobras 6

Boxford Blitz 0

The Cobras continued their winning streak by upending Boxford 6-0. Bridget Murphy put them in the lead when she received a pass from fullback Kara Slavin and blasted it into the net. Elizabeth Shea made it 2-0 when she scored on a throw-in by Kathy Doran. She scored another in the second half with Doran getting the assist and Jodi Sanders. Suzanne Gianelly and Nicole Ricci completed the scoring with assists going to Shea, Doran and Saunders. BOW: Michelle Vetrano, Susan Goldstein and Nicole Ricci.

Barracudas 3 - Sharks 0

The Barracudas played a strong offensive game against the Sharks and came away with the win. Goals were scored by Jamie Damon, Kevin Meisinger and John Thompson with an assist to Robert Dawley. The Sharks kept trying but were unable to break through the Barracudas' defense for the score. BOW: Nat Lopes (Sharks), Gary Bleszenski, Andrew Frankenberger and Adam Ruma (Barracudas).

Dolphins 2 - Piranhas 0

In a very evenly matched game, the Dolphins were able to come away with the shutout when they broke through the Piranhas' defense for two goals. Adam Guild scored the first goal and then assisted Jeff Hamilton for the second. Both teams played an excellent game. BOW: Cannon Redd and Kevin O'Handley (Dolphins) and Robert Edge, Brian Novel-line and Gregg Shapiro (Piranhas).

Jaguars 5 - Triumphs 1

The Jaguars dominated in the scoring department with a decisive win over the Triumphs. Goals were scored by Rhett Bachner (2), Greg DeBeer, Tim Grogan and Charles Calvi with assists going to Bobby McKertich (2) and John-Christopher Martin. The Triumphs only score came from John Shea. BOW: Seth Blumsack, Rhett Bachner, Greg Robinson and Bobby McKertich for some great goalie work (Jaguars).

Lecture

Jane Nylander, senior curator, and Dr. John Worrell, director of research, both from Old Sturbridge Village, will present a joint illustrated lecture, "Sherds, Plates, Sets: Ceramic Clues to the Past," at the Museum of Our National Heritage, Lexington, Sunday, June 10, at 3 p.m. Admission to the museum is free. Tickets for the lecture will be available for a small charge starting at 12 noon.

They will talk about how the archaeologist and ceramic historian collaborate on the research and interpretation of ceramic artifacts from archaeological excavations and how the ceramics contribute to their understanding of the daily life of people.

Inter-League Majors

Orioles 5 - Cardinals 3

The Orioles defeated the Cardinals 5-3 in the first inter-league game for each team.

The Cards opened the scoring in the first when Sean Gill doubled and was rescued on Brown's single after two were out. The Orioles tied the game in the second when Dave Carriere, who had singled, scored on an infield out.

The Orioles scored four runs in the fourth. Carriere and Paul Durant singled and Tom DeBenedictis slammed a triple, knocking them home. Sean Garrity singled sending DeBenedictis home with the fourth Oriole run. Mike D'Angelo's single rescued Garrity with the fifth run.

The Cardinals came back in the sixth to score twice, but Oriole pitcher Garrity settled down to earn his second win of the season.

Brown led the Cardinals with two hits, supported by Brent Rafferty, Jason Proctor, Alex Sumberg, Ward Russell and Gill.

D'Angelo was the Oriole hitting star with a pair of doubles and an RBI single. Third baseman DeBenedictis had three RBIs and made some fine defensive plays.

Proctor went the distance for the Cardinals while Carriere and Garrity split pitching chores for the Orioles.

American League Majors

Orioles 13 - Red Sox 12

The Orioles defeated the Red Sox 13-12 for their fifth victory in a suspended game which was called earlier in the month at the end of six because of darkness.

Oriole ten-year-old pitcher Shawn Garrity picked up his first major league win by shutting down the Sox in the top half of the seventh.

His teammates rallied to break the tie game in the home half of the same frame. Two base-on-balls and a Sox error set the stage for Peter Arthur who lined a sharp single to left to score the winning run.

Mike Plankey (three hits), Adam Ferry and Chris Lembo (two hits each) led the Red Sox at bat. Sox shortstop Joe Lirrobino made some fine defensive plays.

The Orioles' offense centered around Dave Carriere with a pair of doubles and five RBIs. Brett Hammond knocked in two with a pair of hits and Chip Stella had two RBIs. Mike D'Angelo contributed two base hits. Garrity's single in the second was his first hit in the majors.

Chris Lembo and George Bieger shared Sox pitching duties, while Hammond, Arthur, Day, Lirrobino and Garrity worked for the Orioles.

Personnel Matters Approved

The School Committee approved a retirement, one resignation, a leave of absence, a second re-election to a teaching position and a new appointment at their meeting on Tuesday night.

After 17 years in the school system Manuel Silva is retiring as a custodian at the high school. The committee agreed to send him a letter of recognition for his work after member Richard W. Neal and Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert praised Silva's work.

JoAnn Lakow, a mathematics teacher at West Junior High, has been given a child rearing leave of absence through the 1984-85 school year. And Patricia Gray, of Marshfield, was appointed a permanent speech and hearing therapy substitute at a salary of $14,587 that ran through June 4. Next fall her salary will be $15,462.

Janet Wolbarst was re-elected to her post as an art teacher at West Junior High School. Her salary is to be $19,464. Hilary Waldinger resigned her position as an English teacher at Andover High School.

The committee also approved salaries for 16 non-union persons who aren't covered by contracts. The school members, after some discussion, reserved the right to review the salaries and change them to bring them into line with similar positions held by town employees. They asked Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert to review any disparities in the salaries that were set and report back to the board.

The salaries voted upon were for Richard Barron, food services manager, $24,570; Kenneth Anthony, accountant, $22,260; Larry Robbins, audio visual technician, $16,566; Theresa McNally, secretary to superintendent, $19,500; Selma Flieder, secretary to assistant superintendents, $18,050; Mavis Cox, personnel secretary, $18,199; Edward Ernst, supervisor of custodians, $24,208; Ruby Easton, coordinator of Project Discovery, $19,320; Theresa Murphy, executive director of AIRS D D reading project, $39,432; Aline Rubin, AIRS educational specialist, $14,680; Joanne Kempton, AIRS marketing administrative assistant, $118.98 a week; Janice Hayes, high school building monitor, $12,742; Shirley Tripoli, high school hall monitor, $5 an hour; Harry Persichetti, high school hall monitor, $5 an hour; Janet Gerraughty, Xerox key operator, $5.30 an hour; and Helen Drouin, Xerox operator, $5.10 an hour.

Interviews Set For AHA Post

The selectmen will begin interviewing candidates for a seat on the Andover Housing Authority next month, and three townspeople who ran unsuccessfully for a post on the authority earlier this year will be invited to meet with the selectmen.

The board will appoint a new member to fill the unexpired term of the late Thomas Eldred who died last month. It will be a temporary appointment, to end at the time of next year's annual town election.

Members of the housing authority will meet in a joint session with the selectmen at 7 p.m. Monday, July 16, to interview any resident interested in serving on the AHA.

Among those invited to be interviewed are three candidates who ran for a five-year seat on the authority in March: Ronald Hagg, of Enmore Street; Marion Smith of Chestnut Street; and Thomas Walsh of Holly Tree Lane.

NOTICE OF

FIDUCIARY'S ACCOUNT

To all persons interested in the estate of Frederick H. Jones late of Andover, in said County, deceased.

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the twenty-sixth to thirty-fourth accounts inclusive of THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BOSTON as Trustee (the fiduciary) under the will of said deceased for the benefit of Mary N. T. Jones and Others have been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said accounts, you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Newburyport on or before the twenty-fifth day of June, 1984, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by registered or certified mail to the fiduciary, or to the attorney for the fiduciary, obtain without cost a copy of said accounts. If you desire to object to any item of said accounts, you must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, copies to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72.

Witness: Albert P. Petronetto, Esquire, Clerk of said Court, this seventh day of May, 1984.

Over 100 Apply

Almost 100 people are interested in becoming an assistant superintendent in Andover where the search has begun for two persons to serve as assistant superintendents.

One will oversee kindergarten through grades six and the other will be in charge of the junior high school and the high school. The school department received 96 applications, 39 for the elementary position and 57 for the secondary post.

This marks the first time the town has had two permanent people in the assistant slots. Charles Mitsakos was assistant superintendent until last December when he left the job. He was replaced by Lois Haslam, who took over the elementary functions of the assistant job. Haslam left the principal's job at the Bancroft elementary school to become an acting assistant superintendent. And Richard McGrail, who was the principal at Doherty Junior High, became the acting assistant for secondary affairs. Both have triggered off chain reactions of acting appointments in the school from which they came.

The list of candidates, whose names would not be released by Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert, will be pared down by two groups of parents, teachers and administrators who will schedule interviews for both positions in early July.

Seifert, who told THE TOWNSMAN it would be unfair to release the names until each candidate has given permission, said the jobs, which both have a salary range of $42,000 to $45,000, were advertised in the Boston Globe, the Lowell Sun, the Lawrence Eagle Tribune and with a university placement system.

Video Revolution, Inc.

RENTAL RATES FOR 3 NIGHTS

VIDEO EQUIPMENT LOW PRICES

Welcome To The World Of Video Revolution

Video Revolution, Inc., 2 Stevens St., Andover, is an independent company combining high-tech video products and movies with old fashioned concepts of customer service. They really try to keep the word "no" out of their vocabulary when dealing with their customers and they'll go out of their way to be accommodating.

They believe that customers judge video stores on two basic points: size and type of movie collection and rental prices. "Our rental prices are the lowest!" That's a strong statement and they're sure of it. Their movie library is the largest in Andover and one of the largest in the area. It's their intention to keep it that way. They expect to add at least 40 to 50 movies a month and they've exceeded that number since they've opened.

Video Revolution's selection of movies is far different than most video stores. They're a family oriented store so they carry no "XXX" rated movies. Along with the current releases available in most video stores, they carry a large and varied selection of old and classic movies. If you're "in to" old movies you'll be delighted with their selection. Their collection of children's titles is extensive and they have many films teenagers will enjoy. They're expanding their stock of special interest and "how-to" tapes as well as adding to their selection of music videos.

And they offer the Video Passport program. This program is almost a nationwide rental club with over 2,000 participating stores, 40 of which are in Mass. You get a Video Passport at no additional cost when you join our club membership entitling you to rent tapes at other stores at their membership prices.

So why join a club in only one store when the Video Passport makes you a member in so many stores? Stop in today and ask about our low rentals and movie club benefits. American Express, Master Charge and Visa accepted. Open Mon.-Sat. 10-9 p.m. and Sun. noon-5 p.m. Tel. 475-3020.

The Fortunate Life Center — Looking Good, Feeling Good

The Fortunate Life Center, One Elm Square Andover, has an amazing program to help you look good and feel good this summer and always. And they back it up with an amazing guarantee. Their goal is to help you lose weight and keep it off while enhancing your health. Owners Marilyn Toscano-McCarthy and Denise Grasso are so sure of the success of their program that they give a three year guarantee: once you've lost the weight and completed their program if you should gain back any portion of it within three years you get all their services free. Marilyn lost 27 lbs. on this program and hasn't gained back any. Fortunate Life's completely individualized program first personally analyzes your lifestyle, eating habits and even food preferences. Then they develop a balanced program for you that allows you to lose weight gradually while at the same time providing a way of life that is easily maintained. And the best part is their program costs anywhere from 15-50% less than many others. Based on C.O.P.E. (Consultation, Orientation, Periodic evaluation and Education), Fortunate Life Center recognizes and deals with the fact that temporary reduction of caloric intake alone does not guarantee long term successful weight control. Once a week they offer education classes for added support called Edu Sessions with topics ranging from dressing thin with color analysis and how to shop smart to relaxation and stress management. The program was developed at the Univ. of Virginia Medical School where it had tremendous results. This Fortunate Life Center is the first in New England and doubled its projected business during the four weeks its been open. Twenty-eight other Fortunate Life Centers are to open as of July 1. With no gimmicks, special foods or exotic diets, Fortunate Life Center guarantees you'll finally realize long term success at weight control. Take the last weight control program you'll ever need. Stop by to see Denise and Marilyn today. Open Mon-Fri. 7 am. - 1 pm and Mon & Wed 5-8 pm Tel. 475-5558 or 475-5559.

Postal Service Examining New Post Office Sites

Three or four parcels of land are being considered as sites for a new main post office that postal officials hope to build here to take the place of the Main Street office.

Although they wouldn't reveal the locations under consideration, postal managers in New York City told THE TOWNSMAN only that there were "three or four" sites under consideration. John Conte, head of public relations in New York, said that discussing the land the government is considering purchasing for the new building may have an effect on the final sale. He also said they hope to advertise for design bids on the project within the next 90 days.

Conte did say the new building will be about 18,000 square feet, a good deal smaller than the original 66,000 square feet he estimated in discussions with THE TOWNSMAN in May.

Post office space has been tight in town since 1978, when some of the sorting tasks were moved from Andover to Lawrence because there wasn't enough room to do the work here. The Main Street post office has 17,000 square feet of work space and houses 408 mailboxes and regular "window" operations for post office patrons.

Smoking Clinic

The successful Five Day Plan to Stop Smoking is being offered again by New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham for smokers who want to quit. The course will meet for five consecutive nights, beginning June 17, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the hospital's auditorium.

Smokers will receive motivational insights and learn effective techniques to quit, plus get through the withdrawal process. A professional staff, including a physician and health education, will show participants how to change their daily routine to become completely independent of tobacco.

Several years ago postal officials tried to build another post office in Andover on land at the corner of Argilla Road and Andover Street. Announcement of the option on the Argilla-Andover land, then owned by the late Sidney P. White, met with much disapproval as many townspeople were against moving the main post office operations from the center of town. Other options were obtained by the postal service but were ultimately dropped as most of the Andover operations moved to Lawrence.

The smallest breed of dog is the Chihuahua. At maturity this Mexican dog may weigh between two and four pounds, but some weigh no more than one pound.
